

St. Peter's School Board elects members Saturday

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

St. Peter's School district voters will select two people to serve on the school board from a field of five candidates.

Voters will cast ballots on Saturday, April 24 from 5 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Sunday, April 25 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. The voting is in Father Hanley Hall, 900 St. Peter Street, in Antioch.

Seeking election are George V. Bessette, of Trevor, Wis., Mark Vanden Heuvel, of Antioch, Patrick O'Connell, of Bristol, Wis., James Oricelli, of Antioch, and Rob Scharz, of Antioch.

George V. Bessette is a lifelong resident of Antioch. He is a Realtor with Remax Advantage and has worked in real estate for 11 years.

Two of his three children with wife Debbie now attend St. Peter's School. According to Bessette, he plans to remain in the Antioch area so that their children can grow up in the community he enjoyed as a child.

Bessette has said that he has no negative opinions of Antioch public school system. However, he wants to educate his children at St. Peter's School for its religious training, the structured classes, the discipline and strictness, the teacher-student ratio, the teacher and parent involvement, and the sense of community that is instilled in the child.

"I would like to see these attributes carry on as a standard part of the St. Peter's School program," he stated. "I am dedicated to seeing the quality of a St. Peter's education remain available to all of my children, along with the children of my friends, neighbors, and others in the community."

Mark Vanden Heuvel and wife Kathy have lived in Antioch for 14 years. He is a vice-president of Dobson, Inc., a company that services office equipment for telephone companies in the United States.

Their daughter attends St. Peter's School, and their son attends Steppingstone Montessori School in Lindenhurst.

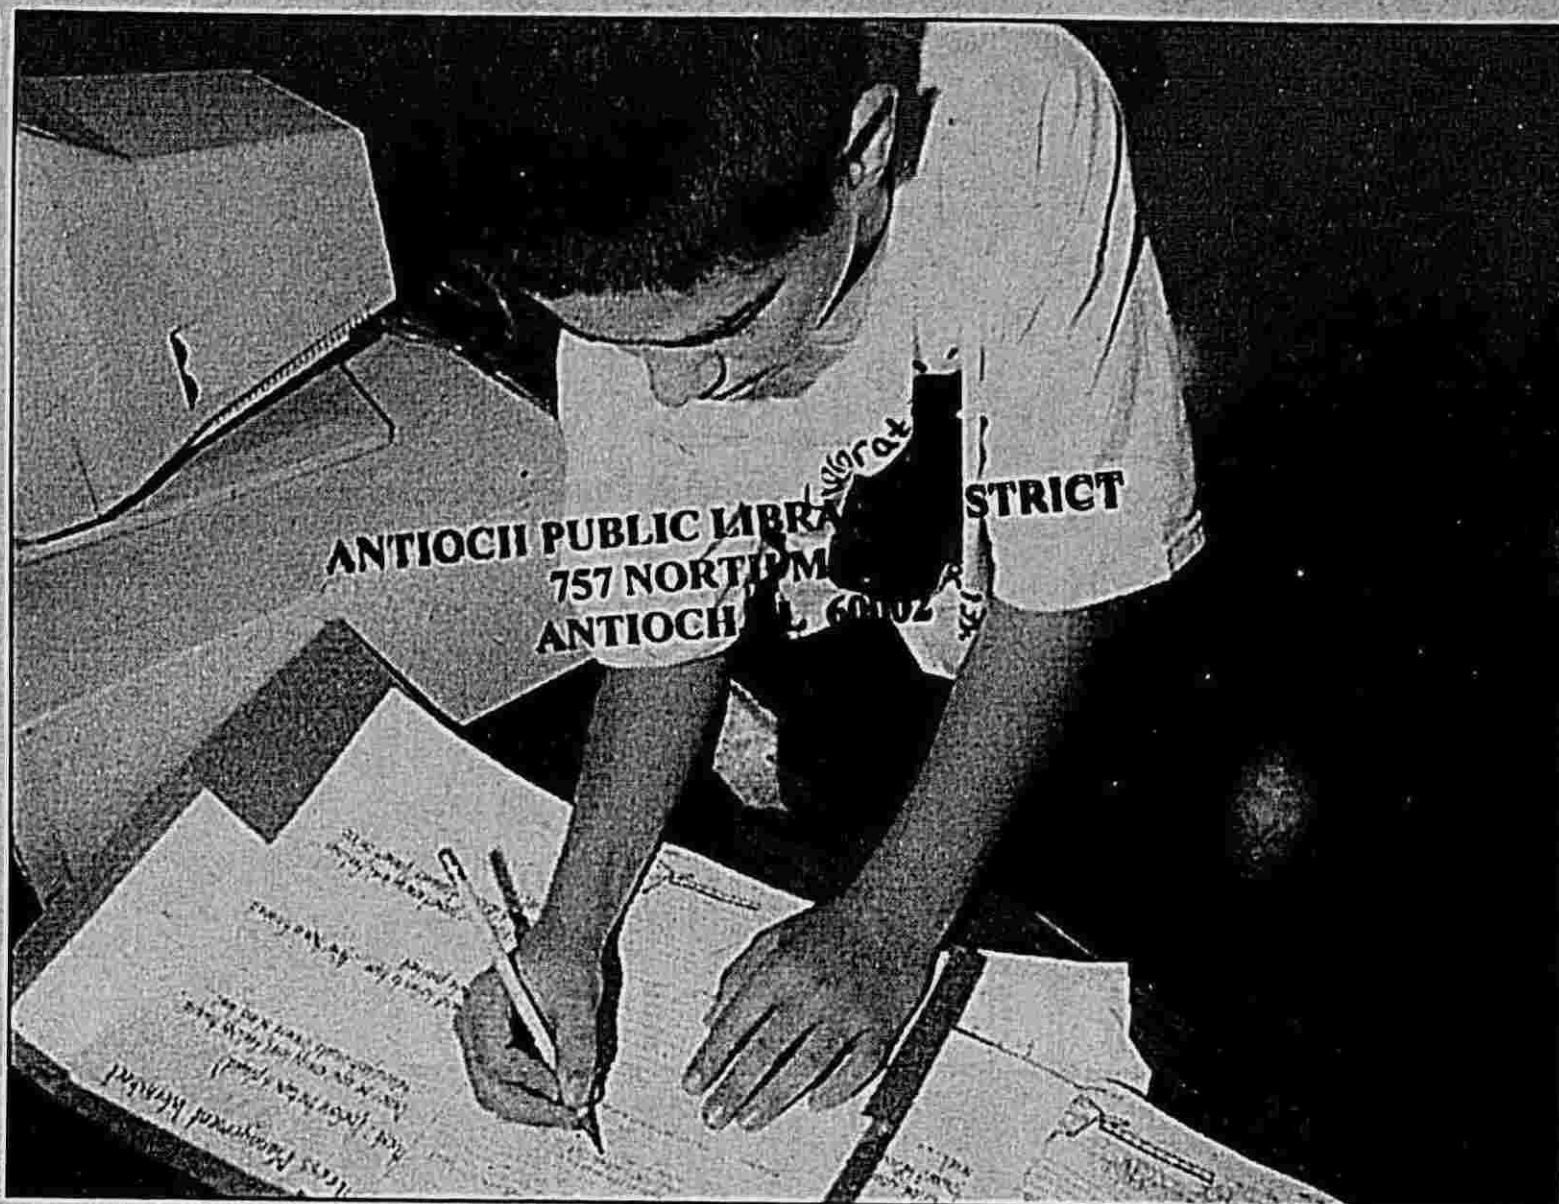

Heuvel grew up in Highland Park. He was a member of Immaculate Conception Church. A graduate of Loyola Academy in Wilmette, he received a bachelor's degree from DeVry Institute in Chicago.

"I believe God has blessed our children with many talents and gifts," he stated. "As a member of our school board, I would work to promote ideas and values that would help St. Peter give our children the opportunities to realize their full potential in all aspects of their lives."

"I would like to see us continue to strengthen our academic courses to give our children the best chance to succeed as they continue their education," he stated.

Patrick O'Connell was appointed to the St. Peter's School Board of Education and is finishing that term. He serves as a member of the Parish Finance Committee.

Saturn Plant may be route to better school

By KENNETH PATCHEN

Construction at Antioch Community High School reflects the physical change that is underway there.

Less evident to the public is the change about how the school operates. How school officials work with one another to teach Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch students is also changing.

It's not the same old school house anymore.

Changing the quality of the school's education process has been an on-going community and school system discussion for the past few years. There have been community meetings with educators such as Jamie Vollmer. Partners in Educational Growth, PEG, is a monthly Internationally known brass player Steve Sykes will participate in a rehearsal with the Lakes Area Community Band. Sykes will play and may also direct the band.

The rehearsal is open to the public and will be in the Antioch Community High School Band Room Monday, April 26 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sykes has been described in music publications as "the most revolutionary tuba player the brass world has ever known."

He is known for his remarkable playing technique, his wonderful tone on the instrument, and a five and a half octave range.

"I heard him once, and it is phenomenal what he does on the tuba," said Steve Porch, director of the Lakes Area Community Band. "Steve (Sykes) is an extremely accomplished international clinician and soloist in great demand for his

Directed by Jenny Sliker, the play will be presented tonight and tomorrow,

April 23 and 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

There will be an early evening presentation at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 25.

"It's a real family show," said Sliker. "It's a piece of what a lot of people seem to be missing in their lives."

"The kids (in the play) are wonderful," she said. "They've done a good job."

Admission is $4 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens.

The play is adapted from the book by Kathryn Forbes, "Mama's Bank Account."

"I Remember Mama" opened on Broadway in New York on Oct. 19, 1944 for 714 performances. One of the actors in the cast was Marlon Brando. In 1948, George Steven's directed the movie starring Irene Dunne and Barbara Bel Geddes. The movie was nominated for a few academy awards. Later, in the 1950's, it was a popular television show.

Arbor Day brings trees for all

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Arbor Day provides village and township residents an opportunity to obtain free tree seedlings and to plant them around the house or around the village.

People who have ordered five free seedlings may pick them up Saturday, April 24 between 10 a.m. and noon at Orchard Street and Skidmore Drive, behind the PM&L Theater building.

"There may be a few unclaimed trees on Saturday," said Laurie Stahl, village parks and recreation department director. People who have not reserved trees for pick-up may be able to obtain five seedling trees from the overstock at that time.

Antioch Township residents can participate in the tree give-away since the township government helps support the program.

"Emmons School is putting together May baskets and will include tree seedlings in the baskets," Stahl said. School students will receive a large share of the seedlings.

Other trees will be planted in the William E. Book Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center parking lot area.

The parks and recreation department will plant trees that are part of the "2000 Trees by 2000" program of the Illinois Association of Park Districts. Eight trees will be planted in village parks as part of that state-wide program.

Helping to plant trees are the Antioch Rotary Club, Boy Scouts, and National Junior Honor Society of Antioch Upper Grade School.

The tree planting program is undertaken with the Antioch Arbor Day Committee. Members include Al Little, Bud Newton, Joyce Olson, Joe Huber, Bob Lindblad, Tom Dvorak, Dick Olson, Steve Smouse, Laurie Stahl, and Marilyn Shineflug.

ACHS students get high marks

The Antioch Community High School Education Association blood drive on Thursday, April 15 was a success and reflects well on the students at the school. "We ended up with 187 pints that were drawn," said drive organizer Loreen Dresser. "It was a really successful day for us. The kids did a really fine job."

The quality of the students came up during a blood donation.

One of the LifeSource employees in the south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School said that she enjoys coming to the this school to do the blood drive. She said ACHS students are "Delightful. Delightful!"

Apparently LifeSource does blood drives at high schools all over northern Illinois. The drives are not generally pleasant at high schools. However, the students from Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, and Antioch were described as polite and very nice.

BUILDING: Construction reflects changes discussion of community and school educators about school change. Similar discussions take place at school board meetings.

In terms of creating a positive, active learning environment in a partnership-oriented educational culture, the high school continues to break new ground and build new relationships. Teacher Carlene Lois said, "I think Antioch is on the cutting edge with this."

In mid-March, Assistant Principal Jim Kafer, and faculty members Lois and Sydney Klocke went to Springhill, Tenn. to visit the Saturn manufacturing plant. On Thursday, April 8 they each discussed with the school board what they had learned on that trip.

For each one of them, the working relationships of Saturn employees have lessons for improving educational opportunities at ACHS.

"The Saturn car factory is considered a trend-setter in labor-management relations and also quality standards," said Kafer. The trip was intended to see if there might be principles about people working together that would apply to offering a high quality education to students. That is why they went there.

Kafer said that the culture at the plant is based on trusting attitudes among everyone involved. "It is based on trust, based on respect," he told school board members.

The most dramatic physical symbol of their trust in one another is the size of the agreement that governs their working relations. Kafer held up a student desk dictionary and said it was the approximate size of the union contract autoworkers have with car manufacturers. Then he held up a small pamphlet. It was the small pamphlet that guides employees and serves as the labor agreement at Saturn.

To create their partnership, Klocke said they work on building trust. "You could see the trust as we talked with union and management," she said.

"They share a mission, a vision, a philosophy, whatever you want to call it," Klocke noticed that the concepts showed up in all areas. There is no separate cafeteria. There is no special parking. Management and labor each hunt for parking spaces.

Kafer said that both managers and workers at Saturn expect there to be conflicts of various kinds, but they have committed themselves to resolving them. Kafer said that by having labor relations in a positive light, employees can focus on what they do, "not internal, work-related conflicts."

The examination of these practices and policies began for Kafer, Lois, and Klocke at 7 a.m. when they arrived at the plant. They were there until 5 p.m. In the morning, they heard from plant managers about the mission for Saturn. In the face of successful competition by Japanese automobile manufacturers, General Motors had realized they had to rethink how to both build cars and work with employees. The Saturn Plant in Tennessee was a place for them to try new concepts to work together to build high quality cars.

Both GM managers and United Auto Workers officials gave presentations about what they were doing at the plant, which is very different from how people operate at other company locations. The tour included attending a training session as well as a discussion about the compensation and reward system. The tour of the plant showed how robotics is used to build cars as well as the teamwork concepts that are involved.

Kafer said that the focus at Saturn is on self-directed teams of seven to eight people who focus on one area of vehicle construction. "Every member of the team rotates around each specific task," he said. For example, "everybody in the powertrain area is a power train professional."

This is very helpful because training takes place during the day. An employee may not be present during the day when co-workers are building the automobile's powertrain. The result is that other team members take on the missing person's assignments.

Klocke said that Saturn employees have a minimum of 92 training hours to complete each year. To accomplish this training, each employee has a training plan. There are all kinds of classes, she said. "You name it; they've got it."

For Klocke, the training created excitement because people sensed that they could grow with the company.

"Employees are encouraged to take risks," Klocke said.

Lois noted that risk taking was even part of the compensation package. For Saturn employees, 88 percent of their base pay is guaranteed. The rest is based on team performance.

Lois noted that it does seem to take longer for Saturn to reach consensus. However, the shared commitment to the decision they reach eases implementation. Employees are able to implement quickly because they have worked to shape what will be done.

Lois said that she thought Antioch Community High School has a lot of the characteristics of the Saturn work culture as it presently operates. "I can see this applying to education and our kids in a number of ways," Lois said.

Kafer also said he thought the climate at Saturn was close to what has been achieved at Saturn.

Everyone can teach and help create the best educated students. Kafer said the experience reinforces discussions the school has had about moving away from time-based and department-focused education.

BAND: Guest brass player on hand as judge performances all over the world."

"I would like to invite all brass players from our area, and of course from our school bands—Waukegan, Libertyville, Antioch, Grayslake—to come along to this open rehearsal to enjoy this unique event," said Porch.

Sykes is in Illinois because he is one of three international judges of the North American Brass Band National Championships. These are to be held Saturday and Sunday, April 24 and 25 at the Pheasant Run Resort near Wheaton, Ill. The competition is hosted by the Illinois Brass Band, of which Porch is a past member.

The competitive championships attract more than 30 brass bands whose playing is evaluated by three international judges, usually from England, home of the brass band movement.

"To help accommodate what will hopefully be a great turnout, I would encourage anyone interested to call ahead at Lakes Area Community band, 395-6729," stated Porch.

The community band is funded by Festival Arts of Antioch as part of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept.

AWC hosts area schools art show

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Woman's Club will host their 12th annual art show at Antioch Community High School Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24 in the Commons.

"There's going to be drawing and different media, such as acrylic, watercolors, and oils," said Kris Murphy.

Murphy has organized the fair for the Antioch club.

A scholarship to art camp is given to the winner of the show, although many other awards are also presented to participants.

The Friday evening show is from 7 to 9 p.m. "We're going to have (musical) performances by students on Friday night," said Kris Murphy. Refreshments will be served.

The show is from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. "We will have different art demonstrations by students and teachers," she said. This may include pottery, calligraphy, and watercolor painting.

"We award a scholarship to the best of show to attend a summer art camp," Murphy said. The camp is at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

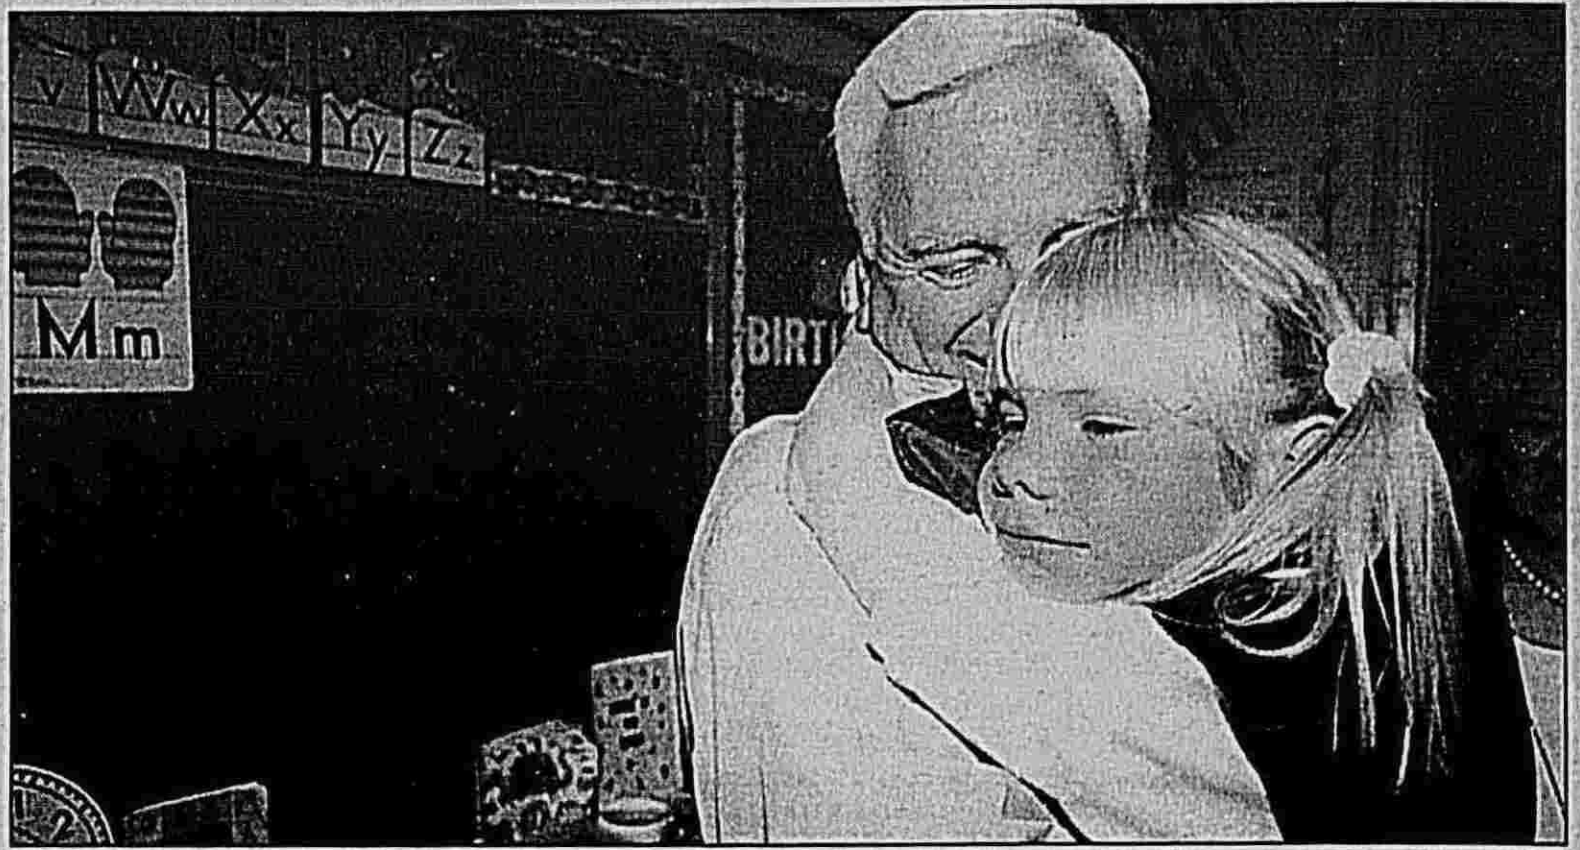

"Everyone who attends votes for a visitor's choice award," she said. "We also give a first, second, and honorable mention in each school."

The show includes artists from ACHS, Antioch Upper Grade School, Grass Lake School, Emmons School, St. Peter's School, Millburn School, and Peter J. Palombi School.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs—Illinois Chapter promotes women in the arts and seeks to create interest for their work. "This is one way they thought they can contribute," Murphy said.

The awards are intended to encourage artists and to help them build their skills, according to Murphy.

Admission is free. Parking is available on the east side of the building near the tennis courts.

ST. PETER'S: School board election held

O'Connell attended St. Joseph, in Libertyville, Carmel High School, in Mundelein, and Marquette University, in Milwaukee, Wis.

After 24 years in the business world, he has been at home the past 18 months to raise his children. He has three children, two of whom attend St. Peter's School.

"I believe a parent's involvement in their children's elementary school education is one of the most important foundations in building the child's long term growth," he stated. "I hope to continue to be of help with the St. Peter School Board in the future development of the children in our community."

James Orticelli has a general dentistry practice in Antioch. He and wife Sarah have two children. Their daughter attends second grade at St. Peter's School.

Orticelli attended Catholic grammar school, graduated from Loyola Academy, and received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois in Champaign. He graduated in 1988 from Loyola University.

Orticelli is a volunteer and involved with activities at St. Peter's School, such as Auctioneer's Night, for which he is on the planning committee this year. He is active in the Knights of Columbus.

"My Catholic school education has proven to be an invaluable asset throughout my life. I feel that the solid academic experience coupled with an emphasis on social justice and morals provided a good foundation for me in my professional career," Orticelli stated.

"I would like to help St. Peter's School to furnish its students with an environment which is strong in both academics and faith foundation."

Rob Schartz is a life-long Antioch resident. He is an equipment manager for R. Rudnick & Co., of Wheeling. He and wife Carolyn have two children, each in St. Peter's School's second and fifth grades.

Schartz was a communications major at Gateway Technical Institute. He completed an internship at WXL Radio in Waukegan.

Being a graduate of a local parochial grade school, according to Schartz, helps him understand what it means to the children to be educated in a Christian-based fellowship. He stated that it is a 'parent's duty' to be involved in their child's education and social up-bringing.

THE WILLIAM E. BROOK WINTER RECREATION PROJECT A PART OF THE

William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center

In April of 1996 the Village of Antioch announced plans for a special project located east of Skidmore Drive. The purpose of the project is to enhance 3.25 acres of wetland on a 6-acre site along Sequoit Creek to promote increased wildlife habitat and provide educational benefits for the residents, tourists and students. This project includes the creation of two ponds, planting of wetland vegetation, creation of a commemorative brick path entrance including berms, planting trees and wild flowers, construction of walking paths and board walks through the wetlands, educational standards, nesting areas for water fowl and a building to be used as an educational and entertainment center.

This special project has since grown into the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. The purpose of the memorial is to honor the life and the legacy of our remarkable citizen, William E. Brook. His love of, and respect for nature continue to inspire us.

The goal is to accomplish this entire project through private donations, in-kind donations, volunteer help and grants. The sale of commemorative bricks for the entrance will help raise money for the overall project. Your brick(s) can become a permanent part of this spectacular project.

Young men age 16 and over are needed to serve as one week companions for a child or adult at MDA Summer Camp in June in Lake Villa.

"It's a wonderful opportunity to perform a valuable community service and enjoy a week of summer camp, free," said Bridget M. Carey. She works with the Muscular Dystrophy Association in Oak Brook, Illinois.

"Male volunteers willing to spend the week at camp are desperately needed to act as companions to

Carey said, "Without the volunteer support, excited children will have to be turned away."

This year's summer camp will be held in Lake Villa, Illinois. There will be two one-week sessions. One week is June 5 to 12, and the second week is June 12 to 19. That is a Saturday to Saturday schedule.

Vehicle stickers on sale Monday

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Postcard notices to remind residents about village vehicle stickers will arrive in the mail during the next few days.

"We're sending out post cards to individual residents," said Candi Rowe, village clerk. "This is the first time we're doing cards."

"It should be more convenient and make people aware that there is a vehicle tax to be purchased."

Residents can send the card back with a check to cover the cost for their vehicle. Stickers will be sent by mail. People also may come to village hall to make their purchase.

Stickers must be on the vehicle as of May 1. After June 15, there is a late fee that must be paid.

Residents must purchase a sticker for each automobile, truck, and motorcycle that they own. The cost is $10 and a similar sticker is issued for these three types of vehicles.

People 65 years old and older pay only $1.

Antique automobiles and replacement stickers are $2.

People should check the information on the post card and make corrections if it is no longer accurate.

Money raised by the vehicle sticker program is used to maintain streets in the Village of Antioch.

Christian Life Fellowship Church celebrates 15 years of growth

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Christian Life Fellowship Church is celebrating their 15th anniversary as a congregation this month.

"The formal celebration is the last Sunday of this month, April 25th," said the Rev. Jeffrey Brussaly, pastor of the 125 member congregation.

"We've been here this many years, and we thought it would be nice to celebrate it," he said.

The 10 a.m. morning service will feature a presentation by the Rev. Paul Martin. He is the district superintendent of the State of Illinois of the Assemblies of God Church.

"We're going to have a fellowship dinner in the evening," Brussaly said. Members of the congregation will bring food to the Church at 41625 Deep Lake Road, just north of Route 173.

"We're trying to put together a trio of people singing several songs we sang in the early years," he said.

The theme of the day is "Remember When." In harmony with this theme, people will share reminiscences. Also, members of the congregation will talk about the significant things that have happened to them since the congregation came together in the mid-1980s in downtown Antioch.

Biking Through Holland

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

If the mention of a European vacation causes you to picture a bus load of tourists being rushed from one museum to the next, you're in for a surprise.

With today's more active lifestyles, the demand for active vacations is growing. We're not just talking about singles in their 20's, either. Most of those seeking more adventurous trips are families, as well as the over-40 travelers looking for something new. One of the most popular of the "soft" adventure vacations is biking tours of Europe.

England, Austria, France and Germany are all "hot" destinations for such travel.

My choice, though, would be the Netherlands (Holland).

Maybe it's because I'm getting lazy in my old age, but biking through a country that has no hills appeals to me. Add to that 9,000 miles of dedicated bike paths through fields of tulips, past-century windmills and no automobile traffic, and you've got the kind of biking of which dreams are made!

One trip includes an overnight stay in a thousand-year-old castle. Another includes sailing with your biking adventure. Others combine biking with train travel.

One of my favorites offers biking and travel by luxury canal barge. You follow biking paths along rivers and canals. You then rendezvous with your barge in the afternoon for meals. At night the barge becomes your hotel.

An average tour covers from 20 to 45 miles a day, which may seem like a lot, but remember we're talking no hills or traffic. Most packages include meals, accommodations, a guide and bike rental.

Grass Lake School students have write stuff

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Grass Lake School has two first place all-school winners for the Illinois State Young Authors award this year.

The award is the culmination of a three month effort by students and faculty at the school to achieve excellence in writing. The winning student is able to attend a May 15 state conference in Normal, Ill. at which more than a dozen Illinois authors discuss the craft of writing.

"It's work, but it's worth it," said Ivy R. Sitkoski, manager of the Young Authors program at Grass Lake School. She works with Librarian Mary Tyner and teacher Norma Rubash on the all-school program.

"I see it as giving (students) something to strive for—excellence," said Sitkoski.

"It's part of the Illinois Young Authors Program which has been going on for awhile," she said. There are 20,000 students in the state who participate. "It's very big; it's all ages."

"In our school, we pretty much get 100 percent participation in first through fourth grade."

"The only guidelines are that it show their best work." Most teachers get their students started in October. "It takes about three months."

"The interest is usually pretty high on the part of the kids," Sitkoski said. "Whoever is chosen as the school representative is really talented."

This year's all-school winners are Rachel Davis and Sarah Pease. Pease also was the 1998 all-school first place winner and went to the young author conference last year.

According to Sitkoski, Davis will represent the school at the conference this year.

The title of Rachel Davis' winning entry is "Lily." It is about a girl who moves to a new place. "She had no friends," Davis said. However, occasionally, a friend will appear. At the end of the story, Lily finds out that her friend was a spirit or angel.

Davis said, "I just make them up from the top of my head."

She keeps a journal in which she puts her stories. "I have three journals filled with stories."

She is also a letter writer. "I write letters to a man I know in Mexico named Labrio. I write to him a lot. He's a friend of my family's. I also write to my Uncle Ron and Aunt Rosie."

She prefers to write mysterious stories and some that are make-believe. She has even had some poetry published in a magazine.

Rachel has a sister who also is an active writer. Sister Katie won an honorable mention when she was in the first grade.

Winning author Sarah Pease titled her story, "My Best Friend the Alien."

"It was about a girl with a normal life, or so she thought it was, and a new girl comes to school not knowing much about anything," Pease said. At the end of the story, "she finds out something that she never thought could be."

The idea for the story came to her in a dream. It is not a common way that Pease finds ideas for her stories. "I only did it for two stories."

"I usually like to write adventure fantasy."

She has started another story. "I'm hoping I can write this one for Poor weather dampens area sports events

It's too bad that the spring season has to be so rainy. Granted, it's nice to see the rain come and wash away all the ink and residue from the streets and sidewalks leftover from the snow and ice—especially all the salt and sand used on the streets.

But the rain tends to come on days when the local high school teams are playing their games and competing in their meets. The track and tennis teams have to wait for a better day, the baseball and softball teams may continue to play—but they have to watch out for lightning. And the soccer teams—well, they play in just about any weather.

But as an editor and reporter, I don't want to be standing out in the rain at a track meet or baseball game, trying to write on wet paper with a pen or pencil that keeps slipping out of my hand because of all the water falling from the sky.

Please, oh please, let next week be a warmer, dryer, more sports-filled week. Let myself and John Phelps, our trusty reporter, go out into the mild spring day and cover the games and meets in person. And let the hits, runs, errors, volleys, backhands, sidekicks, corner kicks and track records fall where they may.

The Lake County Bowling Association will be holding its 1999 Annual Hall of Fame Dinner May 8 at Bellini's Restaurant in Libertyville starting at 6:00pm.

The LCBA will be honoring George Lawarice, owner and manager of Bertrand Bowling Lanes in Waukegan; Harry Lauritsen of Waukegan; Joe Plagenti, owner and manager of Lakes Bowl in Round Lake; and Bill Spigner, owner and manager of Hawthorn Lanes in Vernon Hills.

Please call John Miller for more information at 356-0679 or 336-0255.

Round Lake High School alumnus Tina Meyer is currently a junior at the University of Wisconsin—Whitewater and is the first baseman for the Lady Warhawks softball team.

Meyer leads the team with a .509 batting average as the girls are 18-3 overall, 3-0 in the WIAC.

Ready to burn off some of those winter pounds? Well check out the new YMCA in Grayslake, which opens its doors Wednesday, April 8.

The YMCA, located at 1850 Belvidere Rd., will have hors d'oeuvres and refreshments available for the opening-day hours. The Grand Opening will begin at 5:00pm and last until 10:00pm.

For more information, or RSVP, call 548-8300.

Drew Bogan, a freshman at Franklin and Marshall College and graduate of Libertyville High School, is currently a member of the F&M Lacrosse team, which is 6 overall, 1-1 in the conference.

ACHS soccer stings McHenry

Carlberg powers Lady Sequoits' 6-0 shutout

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

Midfielder Amie Carlberg scored two goals and dished out one assist as the host Sequoits came away with a 6-0 decision over McHenry Monday afternoon.

Mandy Fasano added a goal and one assist, Sarah Richardson a goal and two assists, and Jamie Wismer and Lauren Hungarland each recorded a goal apiece to power the Antioch offense. Midfielder Emily Niles also contributed by assisting on one goal.

Sophomore keeper Erin Hall recorded her fourth shutout of the season as Antioch improved to 5-2-2.

Last weekend, the Sequoits captured the Lake Zurich Tournament, posting a 2-0-1 record in the two-day, round-robin event.

Starting with Friday, Antioch downed Buffalo Grove, 6-2, behind two goals each from Fasano and Richardson. Hungarland and Lauren Beatty also added goals and keeper Hall recorded five saves in earning the opening game victory.

The Sequoits then blanked Hoffman Estates Saturday morning, 2-0.

Fasano's first-half goal turned out to be all Antioch needed as Wismer later added an insurance goal. She also assisted on the Fasano goal. In the final game Saturday afternoon, Antioch and host Lake Zurich battled to a 2-2 tie, but Antioch was awarded the tie breaker and thus, the tournament title.

Trailing 2-0 at halftime, Niles was assisted by Fasano early in the second half to cut the deficit to 2-1. Carlberg then bombed one in on a 35-yard free kick, tying the game at 2-2 with 19:48 left.

"The last four games, we've played some excellent soccer," said head coach Charlie Trout.

"We've been defending well and overall, playing well. We're playing the way we need to in order to compete."

Trout is exceptionally pleased with his four seniors; Fasano, Carlberg, Richardson, and Wismer.

"They've really stepped it up," he said. "They're playing well and providing some excellent leadership."

The Sequoits host their own invitational, starting today at 5 p.m. with the tournament concluding tomorrow with games at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Lady Sequoits softball slips by Grayslake

Knuth paces Antioch in win

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

The tide looks to be turning for the varsity Sequoit softball team.

On Monday, Antioch posted its second victory in a row with a come-from-behind 7-6 win over visiting Grayslake.

Trailing 5-3 heading into the bottom of the sixth, center-fielder Jamie Knuth's triple scored Nicole Astar and Melissa Bockto even the score at 5-5.

Knuth then came home on a passed ball, giving the Sequoits a 6-5 lead. They never looked back, adding an insurance run in the seventh inning when Megs Kotlarz walked to lead off and eventually scored on a throwing error.

Abby Thomas (2-5) went the distance, scattering seven hits and striking out six.

"She's been pitching well," said head coach Steve Wapon. "Her speed changes and locations are getting a lot better."

Knuth also belted a home run to go along with her triple. She ended with four RBIs and two runs scored.

Kotlarz wound up 2 for 3 with two runs scored and a stolen base.

"Defensively, we keep improving," said Wapon. Shortstop Kotlarz finished with four putouts and two assists, while first baseman Kaeleen O'Connell recorded nine putouts.

"Kaeleen was instrumental today," said Wapon. "Three of her putouts were throws that could have gotten by her, so that was very significant."

Third baseman (Melissa) Bock dished out five assists while recording one putout.

"I'm very happy with our infield play," said Wapon. Antioch, now 3-7, plays at Stevenson next Tuesday in a 4:30 contest.

Baseball: The varsity baseball team, like many other teams in the area, have been plagued by bad weather. Antioch's last contest was a week ago Wednesday, where they improved to 10-4 on the season following a 9-6 victory over visiting Milwaukee Hamilton. Jason Schuler smacked his fifth round-tripper of the season and Brandon Clutts (3-4, double, RBI), Brett McCullum (2-3, two doubles, one RBI), and Pat Straub (2-3, double) paced the offensive attack.

Pitcher Brad Groth went one inning in relief for the victory and Brady Schultz earned the save. The Sequoits host Round Lake this Saturday in double-header action, with the first game beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Boys tennis: The varsity boys tennis team suffered their second loss of the season, falling to Carmel Monday afternoon, 4-1. The lone winner was Jason Love at No. 2 singles, 6-4, 7-5.

"We've had our opportunities but have not been able to capitalize on them," said head coach Bryan Plinske.

"We're doing some good things and playing well on the court, but can't seem to clear that final obstacle—we're very close to busting out and surprising some opponents."

Track: The boys varsity track team finished second in the Stevenson Triangular Monday afternoon. The Sequoits beat Mundelein 94-42, before falling to the hosts, 75-71. Taking first place was Dellarea in the 3,200 run (10:46.3), Glinos in the 100 (:11.8) and 200 (:24.1) dashes, Casapao in the 300 IM hurdles (:45.2), Arnold in the long jump (17-6 1/2) and triple jump (38-11 1/2), and Gieroth in the discus (126-1). The 400 relay team also claimed first place with a time of :45.8, while the 800 relay also took first (1:35.9).

Earlier, the Lady Sequoits finished tied for ninth out of 14 teams in the Lake County Invitational, held at Lake Forest. The hosts won the event with 112 points, while Antioch finished with 25. Individually, Clarke finished third in the 100 high hurdles (:17.0) while Rogers was second in the discus (107-5).

Boys volleyball: Last weekend, the boys varsity volleyball team finished seventh out of 12 teams.

For the five games, Brian Soldano was 76 for 88 in hitting with 43 kills and Ryan Keefe 117 out of 172 setting attempts with 49 assists.

The Sequoits presently stand at 5-9 with a date at Warren this Monday, beginning at 6 p.m.

Dynamo Blue beats Raptors 8-4

The Lindenhurst Dynamo Blue U-10 boys kicked off their season opener in the same fashion they ended their soccer season last year, with a 8-4 victory over the R.F. Raptors of Rockford. This spring season Lindenhurst Dynamo are seeded in the Gold division, one of the toughest divisions in the State at the U-10 level. Week in and week out the level of competition we play will be a great challenge for our young athletes.

The Dynamo team was up for the challenge. Brett McKenzie lead the attack with four goals and one assist on the day. Aaron Nichols also had a good opening day with 3 goals and 2 assists. Dynamo applied pressure on the Raptors from the opening kick-off taking 23 shots on their goal, with the Raptors only getting five shots off. A reflection of the outstanding defensive play from Matthew Reimer and Steven Linder, Brett Paramski, Marek Smith and Sean Hertz each played very well at midfield setting up team mates and recording 2 assists each.

U-9 Blaze wins opener 3-2 over Firebirds

The U-9 Lindenhurst Boys travel team opened its spring season with a hard-fought 3-2 victory over the visiting Lombard Firebirds at Forest View Park. After last fall's successful 9-1 season, the Blaze were moved up two divisions to the Red division of the NISL soccer league. They knew the competition would be tougher and the opening game was a sign of how the competition will be.

The Blaze fell behind 1-0 midway through the first quarter when the Firebirds scored on a defensive lapse. However, in the second quarter, the Blaze were told to take longer shots and this worked out as Tommy Sewart scored an unassisted goal from outside the penalty box on a shot that slipped through the Lombard's goalie. The first half ended with the score knotted at 1 to 1. The Blaze only allowed one shot at goal the whole quarter as the defense led by Brian Mooney, Andrew Stein, Matt Laine and Ethan Hahn kept the ball on the opponent's half of the field. Strikers Connor O'Keefe, Alex

Kelley, Sewart and Kyle Sytsma kept up the offensive pressure.

The third quarter was a see-saw battle until the visitors took a 2-1 lead at the six minute mark on a loose ball in front of goalie Chris Church.

For the game, the Blaze outshot their opponents 26 to 12. The Blaze used goalies Andrew Stein, Chris Church, Tommy Sewart and Matt Laine to record seven saves on the day. Outstanding play was turned in by midfielders Houghton, Brian Hook, and Colin O'Malley.

Ferrari revs up area art scene

Prolific Italian sculptor's innovative metal work makes visit to Lake County

Italian-born sculptor Virginio Ferrari is himself, a work-in-progress. A career that has spanned more than four decades is still on fire, ever-changing, cutting-edge, and always for the people, speaking subtle volumes of a society dehumanized by modernization.

Ferrari brought to the public a rare opportunity to experience an art exhibition of nearly 70 indoor and outdoor sculptures entitled "Virginio Ferrari: 1958-Present," last Saturday, April 17, at the new Hawthorn Suites at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth.

"Virginio Ferrari is one of the most innovative and prolific talents of the modern metal sculpture era. His work captures the beauty of the metal form in harmony with nature," said Tom Moderow, Hawthorn Suites hotel manager.

Ferrari's work can be seen throughout the Chicagoland area in parks, on street corners, and universities like Loyola, DePaul, and the University of Chicago. One of his best-known pieces, "Being Born," is located at The Donald J. Porter Gateway at the corner of State St. and Washington, in Chicago.

The sculptor left his birthplace of Verona, Italy in 1966 to come to Chicago, where he now has two studios.

"To me, Chicago is the Florence of the 20th Century," said Ferrari, who first came to the city to do a show.

"I saw the city, and was really impressed by the architecture. I felt like as a sculptor, it would be the perfect place to be."

In the late sixties, Ferrari was the resident sculptor at the University of Chicago, and later became a professor of art, where he taught for 12 years.

"I loved teaching, but it was taking too much time away from my work," said Ferrari, who is going to Loyola University, Rome, in September, as a visiting artist for a quarter.

Ferrari's sculptures are abstract, lyrical. He works primarily in metals like bronze, stainless steel, and aluminum, as well as marble and granite. Ferrari's father and grandfather were stonecarvers whose work instilled in him a passion for using his hands—creating something physical.

"I grew up with that feeling, using the chisel and being involved with building," said Ferrari. "I know how to carve."

Ferrari's career has represented a multitude of styles that include abstract expressionism, surrealist exercise in pop and funk, and formalist work. Using different mediums and shapes, his work seems to contrast nature, yet co-exist with the environment all at once.

Admittedly fascinated by urban life and modernization, Ferrari takes his work into places

'Since the Greeks and Romans, art was part of human life'

Virginio Ferrari

where you wouldn't necessarily expect to see art, bonding a relationship between past, present, and future.

In our present society, where art is often lost to the problems of the world and can rarely be seen outside a stuffy museum, Ferrari successfully penetrates our everyday lives, reminding us to think out loud, and protest the loss of individuality.

"Since the Greeks and Romans, art was part of human life," explained Ferrari.

"Every building, every square, every location had pieces of art to kind of humanize the space."

"This is what I try to do with my work, to bring back that feeling where, if you are in Europe, you tour any major city, you turn around and see a piece of art."

"That is what makes you feel part of the city," said Ferrari.

At his recent exhibit at Hawthorn Suites, Ferrari displayed his proposal for a phenomenal sculpture on Navy Pier called "Tumbleweed," an homage to the midwest Ferrari calls home. The idea consists of 40 foot high steel rings, "tumbling" out over Lake Michigan.

"It's something I started 10 years ago," said Ferrari, who has proposed the project to the city every year, unsuccessfully.

"I always wanted to do something with that strip of land next to Navy Pier. I want to do something to refurbish that area where it is now falling apart."

"It's ugly. It's been here since I came here, and I said somebody has to do something."

"It would be the largest piece of sculpture in the world," said Ferrari.

"It would become a promenade where you could walk and participate."

"I think it could be done in a few years in Chicago. In Italy, maybe 20 years," joked Ferrari, who said the sculpture could cost a hefty $10 to $12 million.

Ferrari wants to raise money for the sculpture by engraving donor's names on the piece, making it "the people's sculpture."

Virginio Ferrari, with the help of his son Marco, are preparing for what will ultimately be the largest show of his career, to take place in Verona, Italy, in September of 2000.

In 1985, Ferrari had a retrospective show in Paris, but it has been decades since he's had an exhibit in Italy. Ferrari will present 300 sculptures from all periods of his lengthy career as well as pieces he's creating now.

Son Marco is developing a feature-length film documentary about his father's life and work, to be viewed at the special 2000 show, and hopefully broadcast by major networks in the U.S.

Marco said he will be spending the summer in Italy, researching, and seeking funds and grants for the film, which will experiment with 3-D work.

When asked if he'll follow in his famous father's footsteps, Marco said, "I have done some sculpture, nothing serious, but as I am documenting my father's work, I'm learning a lot about the process, so maybe down the line."

"This is my first major project. It's great meeting people from different facets of the work he (Virginio) does, from clients, to people who cast his work," said Marco.

In addition to the Ferrari exhibit at Hawthorn Suites at Midlane Golf Resort, guests enjoyed seminars featuring wine tasting, cigar rolling, and chocolaterie. Several Ferrari cars were also displayed outside.

The new hotel has 80 suites that combine a country-living motif with the beautifully renovated 27-hole golf course. Hawthorn

Artist donates paintings to Waukegan Public Library

Jim Harrington, artist and Waukegan resident, has recently created three paintings expressly for the Waukegan Public Library. The paintings were unveiled on April 12 during National Library Week. "We had originally commissioned Mr. Harrington to do a soft-sculpture for the new stairwell. It was upon visits to the library that he decided to create this set of paintings for the south wall of the library on the main floor," explains Andrew Stimson, Executive Director of the library. The three panels, entitled Time machines, measure five feet by fifty-five feet and encompass the upper half of the south wall. The paintings include a quote from Ray Bradbury that Harrington solicited especially for this piece.

Harrington's generosity extends further. He also donated one of his more recognized paintings to the library, at a raffle, with proceeds benefiting the library's foundation. The painting is entitled "Mail Waiters" and features several cows by a row of mailboxes along Routes 120 and 132. "The library is honored by Mr. Harrington's generosity and sense of commitment to his community," adds Stimson. "The paintings are the finishing touch to library redevelopment project. We are excited for the public to see his gift to them."

For further information please contact Elizabeth Stearns, Public Relations Coordinator for the library at 623-2041.

Ask not what your columnist can do for you—

You obviously were not aware of this, but his past Sunday, April 18, was National Columnist's Day. I got all excited about the event, until I realized after sitting on the curb on Main Street for three hours that—hey—there was NOT going to be a parade in my honor.

Not only that, but I looked through the Hallmark cards at the grocery store and, believe it or not, I could not find a single card to send to myself that said "Happy Columnist's Day." Of course, you may be wondering why I would even buy a "Happy Columnist's Day" card and send it to myself. I'll tell you why—who else is going to do it? If I held my breath waiting for a card or letter from any of you folks out there that read this column, I would have the complexion of the Blue Man Group.

Sure, I'll admit that on rare occasions, I do hear from one or two of you. Why, just a month or two ago, I received a letter from a reader. In prison. Considering the quantity of mail I receive, it almost made my day.

And most of the time, that's okay. I realize that the columnist/reader relationship is actually like a marriage. As in many perfectly happy marriages, one partner (that's me) does most of the talking and the other partner (that's you) just shakes his or her head and says, "Um hmmm—"

But sometimes, even the best marriages have their shaky moments. And frankly, dear readers, we are having one of those right now.

Not that I don't enjoy wracking my brain every week to come up with 700 or so words that I can put together in such a way that you will be, hopefully, entertained. In such a way that no more than one or two of you will call the newspaper and say, "Fire that blonde moron." And, most especially, in such a way that no one from the legal profession will arrive at my front door with a court summons charging me with libel, slander, or inappropriate use of the word "cigar."

LIFE'S A BEAR

But sometimes, I feel a little—well, taken for granted. I mean, here I am, writing my heart out for you each week, and what kind of feedback do I get in return—"Look honey—not one reader called me a moron this week."

Well, I think you can do better. For example, Dave Barry's readers are always sending him unusual news clippings, giving him column ideas. Granted, he is a Pulitzer Prize winner and probably the funniest writer on earth. If Dave were a Rent-a-car, he'd be a Hertz.

So maybe you could think of me as an Avis rent-a-car? Or how about a Dollar rent-a-car? Okay, fine, have it your way: Rent-a-junk heap. But that's all the more reason for you to send me ideas, isn't it? Heaven knows, it couldn't hurt.

Actually, I tried to elicit some reader participation a few years back by running a "Life's A Bear" reader survey, and received a pitiful dozen responses. Let me tell you, that kept our local post office busy for about—a minute and a half. I can safely say that I am in no way responsible for the increase in postal rates.

But I recently figured out that the reason my survey was unsuccessful is because it was too much work for you. In order to respond, you had to read the survey—check off each of the multiple choice boxes—sign your name, put it in an envelope, stick a stamp on it, and mail it. Who's got time, for pete's sake? This is 1999. We're too busy using our timesaving technology.

So, I have come up with the perfect way to give our reader/columnist marriage a little boost. While it's too late to celebrate "National Columnist's Day," it's NOT too late to celebrate the fact that TODAY is the five year anniversary of "Life's A Bear."

In other words, I've been humoring YOU for five years—it's your turn to humor ME by doing one of two VERY EASY things:

1. If you have a computer, send me an E-mail (no attachments, please). Just write "Life's A Bear" as the subject—you don't have to write anything else unless the spirit moves you—and send it to me at donnaabear@hotmail.com. It doesn't get any easier than that.

2. Unfortunately, not everyone has a computer or E-mail. But most people have envelopes. So, simply take an empty envelope, seal it (or send a postcard) and address it to me as follows: Life's A Bear c/o Donna Abear, P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

I look forward to hearing from you.

All 12 of you.

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

When it comes to making an important decision this week, don't lose sight of everyone involved. You can't just think about yourself. Many people will be affected by your choice. You run into an old friend late in the week. Spend time catching up with him or her. You're sure to learn some interesting information.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't back down when it comes to something that you really want this week. You deserve it—so why give up? Work diligently, and you will achieve your goal. That special someone has a bad day and takes it out on you. Don't get upset. It's nothing personal.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

A business associate tries to blame you for his or her own mistakes. Don't stand for this. Defend yourself, and explain your position. The higher-ups will support you. A loved one needs to stay with you for a while. Even though this may cramp your style, you know that you must do this. Libra plays an important role.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Your sense of humor will lighten up the mood of a tense family get-together. Try to lift everyone's spirits; you know that you can do it. Your loved ones truly will appreciate your efforts. A friend of a friend asks a favor of you. Don't say yes, because he or she isn't dependable.

Leo — July 23/August 23

Don't steal the spotlight from a close friend when he or she is making an important announcement. You can't always be the center of attention. Let him or her have a chance to shine. You meet an intriguing person late in the week. Get to know him or her better, because this could be the one.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

While you would rather be alone early in the week, Virgo, that's not going to be an option. Loved ones and friends all seem to need your help. Do what you can for them. Don't worry—you'll have plenty of time for yourself during the weekend. Scorpio plays an important role on Thursday.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

Listen to what a loved one has to say, Libra. At first, it may seem like this person is being critical. However, he or she really is just looking out for you. Take his or her advice. You will benefit from it. A close friend wants to take you out late in the week. Say yes. It's sure to be a good time.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

That special someone shuts himself or herself off to you. Don't automatically go on the defensive. Try to get this person to open up to you. It's the only way to get to the heart of the problem. It will take some time, but don't get discouraged. Things will get better by the week's end.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You meet someone who reminds you of a lost love early in the week, Sagittarius. Don't let nostalgia get the best of you. Focus on the future, not the past. There's a reason why this person is no longer in your life. A loved one needs a favor from you. Do what you can.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't be shy when talking with an influential business associate. Let this person know what your goals are, because he or she can help you attain them. The person whom you've been seeing wants to step up the relationship. Is this what you really want? Think about it before answering him or her.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let an incident with a stranger get you upset late in the week, Aquarius. You have too much to do to worry about someone whom you'll never see again. A loved one offers you romantic advice. Listen courteously, because he or she is just trying to help. However, don't do what this person says. It only will get you into trouble.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

A good friend gets into hot water this week and turns to you to bail him or her out. While you want to help, don't. Your efforts only will make the situation worse. That special someone has a surprise for you. Enjoy!

'Go' is like little brother to 'Pulp Fiction'

Since the release of Quentin Tarantino's masterpiece "Pulp Fiction," there have been a number of copy-cat and wannabe films—most were bombs ("Two Days in the Valley"). But along comes the director of the wildly successful "Swingers," Doug Liman, and finally the formula worked. The result is a very strong movie titled "Go" which is cast from the mold of "Pulp Fiction" but projects its own sense of style and drama.

"Go" is a movie which steals some of the scene sequencing from "Pulp Fiction" but does so in a way in which Liman seems to be tipping his hat to Tarantino and "Pulp Fiction."

The film, like "Pulp Fiction," features a large cast and takes the audience through three separate stories which all intermingle with each other at some point in the film. But unlike "Pulp Fiction," "Go" does not feature big star after big star.

The biggest "stars" in the film

are Jay Mohr, of "Jerry McGuire" and "Saturday Night Live" fame, and Scott Wolf of "Party of Five."

The film begins—if there is a true beginning—with Ronna (Sarah Polley) as she is getting off work at the local grocery store. She is desperately trying to scrounge up enough money so that she isn't evicted, and is asked by co-worker Simon (Desmond Askew) to take his shift.

With dollar signs in her eyes she accepts, and the night just begins for a group of fun-loving teenagers.

Ronna is approached by two soap opera actors (Scott Wolf and Jay Mohr) who want to buy drugs. The two are actually looking for Simon, but ask Ronna when they're told Simon is gone.

Simon, after Ronna agrees to work his shift, is on his way to Las Vegas for a night on the town with his buddies—but things get more wild than anyone had anticipated. Simon's night includes losing money at the tables, having sex with two brides maides, stealing a Ferrari and shooting a bouncer in the arm.

Back to Ronna, she completes her shift and goes to Simon's drug supplier to buy the drugs. When she goes to sell them to Wulf and Mohr, she realizes that she is being set up in a drug bust and flushes the drugs down the toilet.

Then Ronna is out the money she paid for the drugs, can't sell the drugs she bought from the dealer, and needs to make some quick cash to pay off the rest of the money she owes the dealer and also to pay her rent.

The answer: she buys cold medicine and sells it as ecstasy at a rave party.

Meanwhile, Mohr and Wolf, who were previously arrested themselves for possession of drugs, are stuck in a bizarre Christmas dinner with the undercover police officer who is using the two as bait for large criminal prey.

All of these stories weave in and out of each other in a surprisingly coherent fashion, as Liman does a masterful job tying together what could be three very different and independent stories.

The acting in "Go" is solid—no one really stands out, but no one detracts from the film either, and the stories are told in a concise, to-the-point fashion which keeps the audience interested in every facet of the plotline.

Based on the great use of scene-sequencing, acting, writing, directing and plotline, I give "Go" four out of five popcorn boxes. This is a must-see for fans of "Pulp Fiction" and Quentin Tarantino.

Construction underway at Greenbelt Cultural Center

On April 8, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners and staff toured Greenbelt Forest Preserve near North Chicago and Waukegan and received a project update on construction of the site's new 7,300-square-foot, multi-purpose Greenbelt Cultural Center, as it continues to take shape.

Members of the center construction team, representatives from Kenny Construction, and project architects from Teng and Associates of Chicago presented the latest project information and guided visitors on a tour of the building site.

The center, supported by community partners, Abbott Laboratories and Grainger, will serve the local community and residents throughout Lake County and provide year-round cultural enrichment and educational opportunities.

Children and adults of all ages can explore the environment through education, recreation, the performing arts and a variety of cultural events and experiences offered at the Center. A Spring 2000 opening is scheduled.

For additional information about the Greenbelt Cultural Center, contact Mary Ellen Mason, Lake County Museum Communications and Development Coordinator at 526-7878, ext. 22.

THEATRE REVIEW

'Much Ado' play is well worth the commotion

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Director Tom Hausman has created a most welcome production of William Shakespeare's "Much Ado about Nothing." It is a presentation with high production values and stage imagery, actors and actresses with wonderful stage presence, and an oft-told story that once again creates delightful entertainment.

Loving couples Hero and Claudio and Beatrice and Benedict set forth on their loving ways in a summer-time garden in the unspecified distant past. For Hero and Claudio, love is fresh and young. For Beatrice and Benedict, love is a more complicated matter which brings forth contradiction, confrontation, and consternation.

All of the cast in this production is in top form. Their presentation can be followed well and the delivery is natural. It is evident they know whereof they speak for they communicate with both word and, sometimes bawdy, gesture the range of love at any time.

Esther Scheurer and Terri Leahy receive high marks for their contributions as Hero and Beatrice. Bruce Weise does a very good job with his role as Leonato as does John Franco, Benedict. They set the pace for a believable production. Terri Leahy is particularly effective.

The garden-like stage setting is a lattice with flowers covering it. The lattice captures tones of light in a most romantic fashion. The stage craft of PM&L productions has been consistently imaginative and well executed. This production's stage design lends so much to the atmosphere of the play.

"Much Ado About Nothing" is an excellent opportunity to reconnect with Shakespeare. The cast contains some long-time favorite actors and actresses of PM&L who themselves are in fine form with their roles. It is fun to recapture the context of often-quoted lines from the play.

This PM&L production is presented the weekend dates of April 23, and 24 at 8 p.m., and of April 25 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens.

Ticket reservations can be made by telephone, 395-3055, or in person at the box office starting Monday, March 29. Box office hours are Monday through Thursday at 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., Saturday at 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and 90 minutes before curtain time on show dates.

PM&L is at 877 Main Street in downtown Antioch, just south of Orchard Street.

CLC presents Pygmalion

The College of Lake County (CLC) presents Pygmalion on Friday, April 23 and Saturday, April 24. Showtimes are at 7:30 p.m. The show will be presented in the studio theatre, 19351 W. Washington Street in Grayslake. For tickets, call the CLC box office at 543-2300.

The play, written in 1916 by George Bernard Shaw, is a comedy, which was later adapted to become the Broadway smash hit musical, and award-winning film, My Fair Lady.

CLC veteran director and theatre professor, Eibhlín Glennon of Antioch, is directing the play. The set design is by Thomas Mitchell of Chicago, who also teaches at CLC.

CLC student Jessica Mooney of Vernon Hills ably tackles the role of Eliza Doolittle, the flower girl with a cockney accent who learns to speak like a lady. Fellow student Don Duprey of Lake Zurich demonstrates his acting talents as the irascible Henry Higgins, the professor of phonetics who teaches her to speak. John Haderlein, an attorney from Libertyville, fills in many of the funny moments in the show with his hilarious rendition of Eliza's father, Alfred Doolittle. Ingleside's Ken Schettig plays Colonel Pickering, and CLC student Delia Baldwin of Waukegan plays Mrs. Pearce.

Orchestra, choir offer sounds of spring

The Racine Symphony Orchestra brings its 1998-99 chamber series to a resounding close on April 23 with a mix of keyboard and song. Titled "An Evening in Vienna," the concert, scheduled for 8 p.m. in Carthage's Siebert Chapel, offers music by Brahms and Mozart.

Tickets for the concerts are $15 for adults, $13 for seniors, and $5 for students ages 6-18. They may be purchased from the symphony office by calling (414) 636-9285.

CBCH programs serve child, family needs

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Central Baptist Children's Home (CBCH) exists between the need for its services and the need to find volunteers to help families and children.

"We are a child welfare agency with a full array of services," said Joyce Heneberry. "(We) try to provide the services a parent would provide any child."

Heneberry works with marketing and volunteers at the agency.

"Most people think we're a church. We have a religious background, but we're not a church," she said.

The agency works "to promote the physical, social, emotional, intellectual and spiritual development of children and their families in need through a wide variety of family focused child welfare services." It does this with programs to meet the large number of ways that children and their parents are with one another.

It also assumes a role for public education.

In the month of April every year, CBCH works to focus attention on child abuse and its prevention.

"Yes, child abuse is happening here in Lake County," said Amy Younts, of the agency.

To help remind Lake County people of this fact, the agency has adopted the use of the national blue ribbon symbol to promote awareness of the problem.

The blue ribbon was first used by a Virginia grandmother in spring, 1989 to remember her 3 year old grandson who was killed by his mother's abusive boyfriend.

"The blue is the symbol of the black and blue bruises that the child suffered," said Younts. To wear the blue ribbon or pin during April is to show support for children.

The agency itself supports families and children with a range of services throughout the year. They offer family and child prevention programs, support programs, and intervention programs.

Edward Buchs, a senior vice-president for the Lake and McHenry County programs of CBCH, said that within the past decade the agency has tried to be there for families and children before bad things happen.

"The agency has tried to expand its continuum of services," said Buchs. There is still the need for intensive, intervention services, but now they work to stop or minimize problems before they can even start. One program even starts before the baby is born.

The service programs are quite varied.

The child care centers provide care during the day and after school. The home child development programs help infants in their homes. In-home services help parents learn discipline, nutrition, supervision, and health skills.

There are programs for individual, group, and family counseling. These seek to strengthen the family and prevent stress that can cause it to fall apart.

There is a program to help children between 12 and 18 who have run away, been thrown out of the home, or are consistently involved with police officers. The objective is to reunite the family.

Other child care programs involve placement of children in substitute care. These can include adoption, independence, or foster parents.

The Parent Group is a self-help program to educate and support parents. It is preventive and helps parents manage the stress of parenting.

"Wings is the second piece of our prevention services," said Amy Lechman, who works in prevention services. Wings helps parents prepare for the birth of their children. It works with first time parents, according to Lechman.

"We will have our first graduation this summer of a person who has been in the program for five years," she said. "It's a pretty unique program, and we've had some successes with that."

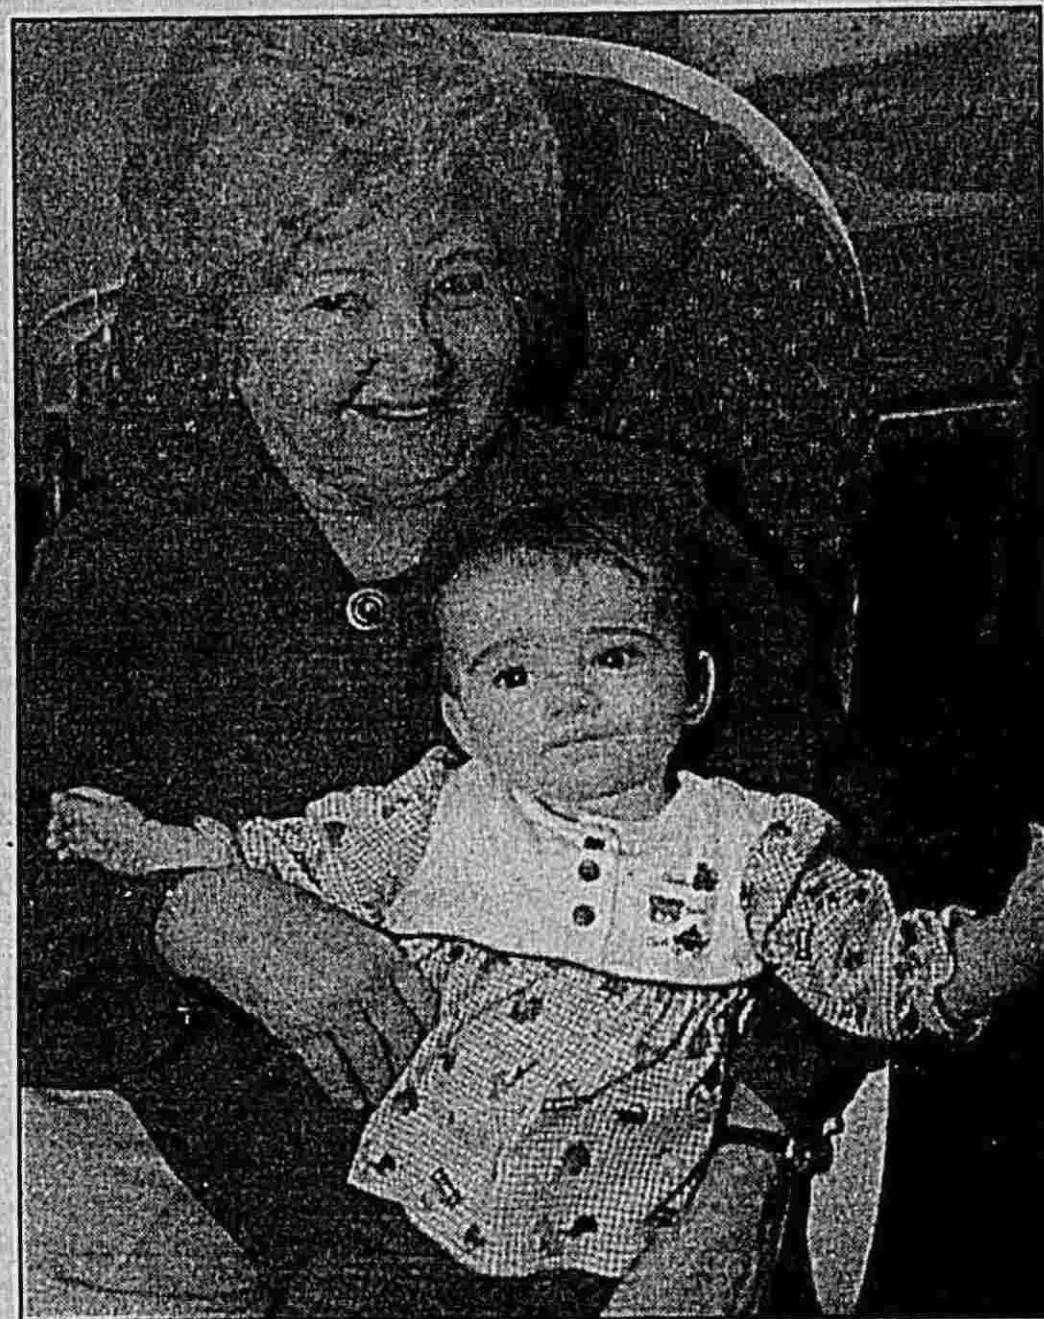

The annual budget for these statewide services for Central Baptist Children's Home is $30 million. The money helps them provide services as well as to seek out volunteers to help them. Some people become involved as foster parents or foster grandparents, for example. Others help raise funds and lend a hand.

Two major outreaching community fund-raising events are the Children First Golf Outing and the Summer Concert Series.

This year the Children First Golf Outing is July 13 at Steeplechase Golf Club in Mundelein. Last year we raised over $14,000 for our child abuse prevention programs here in Lake County," said Younts.

"We have a Concert for Families," she said. The concerts are sponsored in association with State Bank of The Lakes, a consistently strong volunteer supporter of the agency.

This upcoming Saturday, April 24, there will be a concert at 5 p.m. at the Antioch Community High

Lake Villa resident Victoria Bello plays with 7-month-old Courtney Kempf at the Bright Beginnings Day Care Center on the campus of Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa. Bello serves as a foster grandmother to the children for four hours everyday.—

School auditorium. It will feature the Sound Waves Orchestra and the ACHS Wind Ensemble.

The second concert is Saturday, June 19. It is a cultural event for families to enjoy on the lawn of the CBCH lakeside campus. "We have a beautiful setting here," Younts said. "We call it our mini-Ravinia."

"We're very proud of what we do," said Ed Buchs. "In each of the programs there are a lot of heroics involved."

Volunteers are a crucial part of what helps the agency work to make those heroics happen. Volunteers may be involved in some of the programs to help families and children, or they may be volunteers who help the agency function. For either type of volunteer path, Heneberry is the person to contact (356-2391).

"We have special projects we recruit volunteers for," she said. There are service programs which need volunteers. For example, the parent group needs people with special skills. The residential program needs tutors. In the foster program, people who can mentor are needed as volunteers.

Other volunteers may help set up rooms and make arrangements for events. There is an especially strong need for volunteers who can help maintain buildings, be it the installation of blinds, washing windows, cleaning closets and kitchens, or making repairs. Volunteers are needed to plant flowers which help to soften the campus setting and allow beauty into the everyday world of children who live there.

"We develop a wish list," Heneberry said, and people who have time and skills can become helpful immediately, especially during the months of May through October.

Volunteers are needed for holiday events. There is always a generous outpouring of help at Christmas time, but also at times like Valentine's Day, Easter, and Halloween.

"Each year, we build on the number of volunteers working in Lake County," said Heneberry.

Surgery center nearing completion

Working through the winter, construction crews are nearing completion of Lindenhurst's new healthcare center. The Victory Surgery and Treatment Center, located between Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center and the Lake Villa Library, will provide a convenient location for same day surgery, cardiac rehabilitation and rehabilitative therapy services. The center is scheduled to open in early summer.—Photo submitted.

Free allergy/asthma hotline provides information for allergy sufferers

For free allergy and asthma information call 312-409-3365. The HOTLINE is provided by the non-profit Board Certified Allergists of Greater Chicago.

Beginning April 15, Monday through Friday, the Hotline will report local pollen and mold spore counts. When these counts are high, sufferers can experience discomfort and allergic reactions in sinuses, eyes, nose, throat and lungs.

The Board Certified Allergists Hotline will also advise callers of an allergy alert, the very high pollen and/or mold spore counts that can trigger an asthma attack.

Counts will be reported as follows: Grass Pollen: Low (less than 5 grains per cubic meter of air); Moderate (5-20 grains); High (21-200 grains); Very high/alert (over 200 grains).

Trees: Low (less than 15 grains); Moderate (15-90); High (91-1,500); Very high/alert (over 1,500).

Mold spore counts: Low (less than 900 spores per cubic meter of air); Moderate (900-2,500 spores); High (2,501-25,000 spores); Very high/alert (over 25,000 spores).

The Board Certified Allergists, specialists in diagnosing the treating asthma, allergy and sinus conditions, recommend staying indoors with air conditioning during hot, windy, dry weather when there is an allergy alert.

Did we destroy our child? Should we be concerned?

Hi Dr. Singer, I have a rather embarrassing question to ask you. Usually, when my husband and I get intimate, we are very careful about locking our door and making sure the kids are asleep. A few days ago, we must have either forgotten to lock the door or it must not have caught right because my 7 year old daughter walked in on us! She became very frightened and thought that my husband was hurting me. We consoled her and she was o.k. shortly after that, however both my husband and I feel just horrible about this and are wondering whether there might be more to talk to her about. Our very close friends told us not to worry about it so much and that we would probably look back and laugh about this years from now. We aren't laughing much now! We are worried about what she thinks and also what she might say out in the world. Can you tell us whether we should be concerned or not. Thanks! A.R.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dear A.R.,

The first thing I would like to say to you is that you should calm down and relax. It isn't the best of situations, but it is not as if you did something purposely in front of her. These things happen all the time and probably more than you think. She will more than likely be fine, but I will give you some thoughts that I have on the subject.

The first thing I would suggest is that you do address it with her. She not only saw something, but she was scared by it so chances are, she might still be feeling scared. She might also have misinterpreted your reaction. Her fear level might have been more of a response to your quick reaction than what she actually saw. She might have taken the chaotic nature of the reaction to mean that she did something bad. I would probably sit down with her and first ask her what she thought happened that night. If she seems not to know at all and she seems honest about that (not just hiding it) then I wouldn't worry about trying to explain much to her. If, however, you do find that she has thought about it, is afraid, or is able to give information about anything, you will need to speak further about it. If she does know, I would explain to her that this is something that happens between adults who are married and who love each other. I would be careful to make sure that she understands that it is an adult thing to do because if she thinks that the only thing required for this to happen is love, than you might have some unwanted reports about her if she feels love towards any other kids. You don't want that type of miscommunication to happen. You will want to clear up for her that her Dad wasn't hurting you and that she should not be afraid of that. That this is a way that married adults can show love for each other.

Based on another family I met who had the same thing happen to them, I have another very important piece of advice for you. This would be to make sure that she knows that this is not something to be talked about at school, camp, etc. I had one situation in the past, in which, a little boy went to school after seeing the same thing and told his entire class that his Dad was hurting his mom and it blew up into a mess Grande! You don't have to make her feel like she is keeping a secret (because sometimes that can become more irresistible to tell.) It can be explained that it is a private thing and something that we don't talk about at school or camp, etc. Tell her, though, that she can always talk to you about it.

I don't think you need to explain all the facts of life to her at 7 just because this happened, but I do think that if you avoid talking to her and she is feeling bad about it, not only could it make her feel bad in an ongoing way and cause a lot of questions and fear over time, but it will be a missed opportunity for you to really help her feel better and get closer to her.

So, relax and stop feeling like you have damaged her in some way. This happens a lot and kids recover just fine from it. I would suggest that you replace the bedroom lock though!

Heart and Vascular Center accredited by ICAEL

Heart and Vascular Center of Lake County located in Gurnee, was granted accreditation by the Intersocietal Commission for the Accreditation of Echocardiography Laboratories (ICAEL). The laboratory is one of the first sixty echocardiography laboratories in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico to be so recognized for its commitment to high quality patient care and its provision of quality diagnostic testing. Isaac Thomas, M.D., F.A.C.C., is the Medical and Technical Director of the center.

The ICAEL was established with the support of the American Society of Echocardiography (ASE), the American College of Cardiology (ACC) and the Society of Pediatric Echocardiography (SOPE) to provide a peer review mechanism to encourage and recognize the provision of quality echocardiographic diagnostic evaluations by a process of voluntary accreditation. A non-profit organization, the ICAEL is dedicated to ensuring high quality patient care and to promoting health care.

Participation in the accreditation process is voluntary. Accreditation status signifies that the facility has been reviewed by an independent agency which recognizes the laboratory's commitment to quality testing for the diagnosis of heart disease.

Bar hops will stop earlier

Revised ordinance changes bars and restaurant hours

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Bar owners in unincorporated Lake County will have to close their doors an hour earlier after the Lake County Board approved revisions to the liquor ordinance last week.

By a unanimous vote, the board ratified the ordinance changes, which included the earlier closing time for bars and certain restaurants that serve alcohol.

Effective July 1, all holders of Class A, B, D, or E licenses in unincorporated Lake County will be prohibited from serving liquor after 1 a.m. on weekdays and 2 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. The previous bar closing times were 2 a.m. on weekdays and 3 a.m. on weekends.

Several County Board members expressed support for changing the bar hours as a way of curbing drinking and driving and reducing late night noise problems.

Board member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein), who serves on the county's liquor commission, said the county bars have been open later than bars in many of the villages. As a result, she said people will drive to those bars after the other establishments close.

"We don't want to be the last place open," she said. "We don't want to encourage people that have already been drinking to go to another bar and drink for another hour. It's a safety factor."

Board member Bonnie Thomson

Carter (R-Ingleside) added that many of the bars in the unincorporated areas are located near residential areas. She said she has often received calls from residents who complain about noise from people who are out drinking until 2 or 3 a.m.

"I'm really thrilled to see us bring its ordinance more closely in line with what most of the villages are doing.

"We did survey the municipalities. We're kind of in the middle. There are still some who stay open later hours, but an increasing number are closing at 2," he said.

The earlier closing time wasn't the only change to the liquor ordinance the board made. The revised ordinance also provides that no further Class G liquor licenses will be issued. Class G liquor licenses are those licenses issued to gas stations.

O'Kelly said the reason no more G licenses will be issued is because the county has been having a lot of problems with those establishments serving to underage drinkers.

The ordinance also provides that no more than 170 liquor licenses shall be issued by the county. Previously, the county had the authority to issue up to 190 licenses. There are currently 155 establishments licensed to sell alcoholic beverages in the county.

'We don't want to encourage people that have already been drinking to go to another bar and drink for another hour. It's a safety factor.'

change the hours of operation. The residents have got to be thrilled with this," she said.

Carter, however, conceded that some bar owners will not be as happy about the change. "It's going to upset some people," she said.

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle, who also chairs the liquor commission, said the county wanted to

Lake County Board member weighs a bid for state senate

Martha Marks considering a run for State Sen. Terry Link's seat

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Lake County Board member Martha Marks said she is weighing a possible state senate bid against Democratic incumbent Terry Link in the 2000 election.

Marks, (R-Riverwoods), confirmed last Friday she is considering a bid for the senate post but has not yet made a final decision.

"I've been thinking about it," she said. "It's not something I'd undertake without giving serious thought but I have been giving it serious thought. I think I have a good chance of beating him and he knows it."

Marks said she personally likes Link but questions his effectiveness as a legislator in Springfield.

"I don't hear his name come up much," she said. "I think people think he's a nice guy, but I don't think he's been very effective. When he started talking about changing the way the County Board was elected, I thought 'maybe this guy needs a new job.'"

Marks was referring specifically to a Senate bill Link proposed that would have provided for an at-large election of the County Board chairman. The proposal upset some board members who viewed it as meddling in county business and the plan failed to get legislative support.

Link, D-Vernon Hills, said he is concentrating on the job he was elected to do by the voters.

"I expect there to be competition. I've got to answer for the job I've done as senator and I feel very happy about what I've done," Link said.

"I don't get concerned with people who are talking about running," he added. "I've have a job to do and I'm going to continue to do the job I was elected to do."

Link serves the 3rd Senatorial District, which includes parts of Libertyville, Vernon Hills, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff, Highland Park and Deerfield.

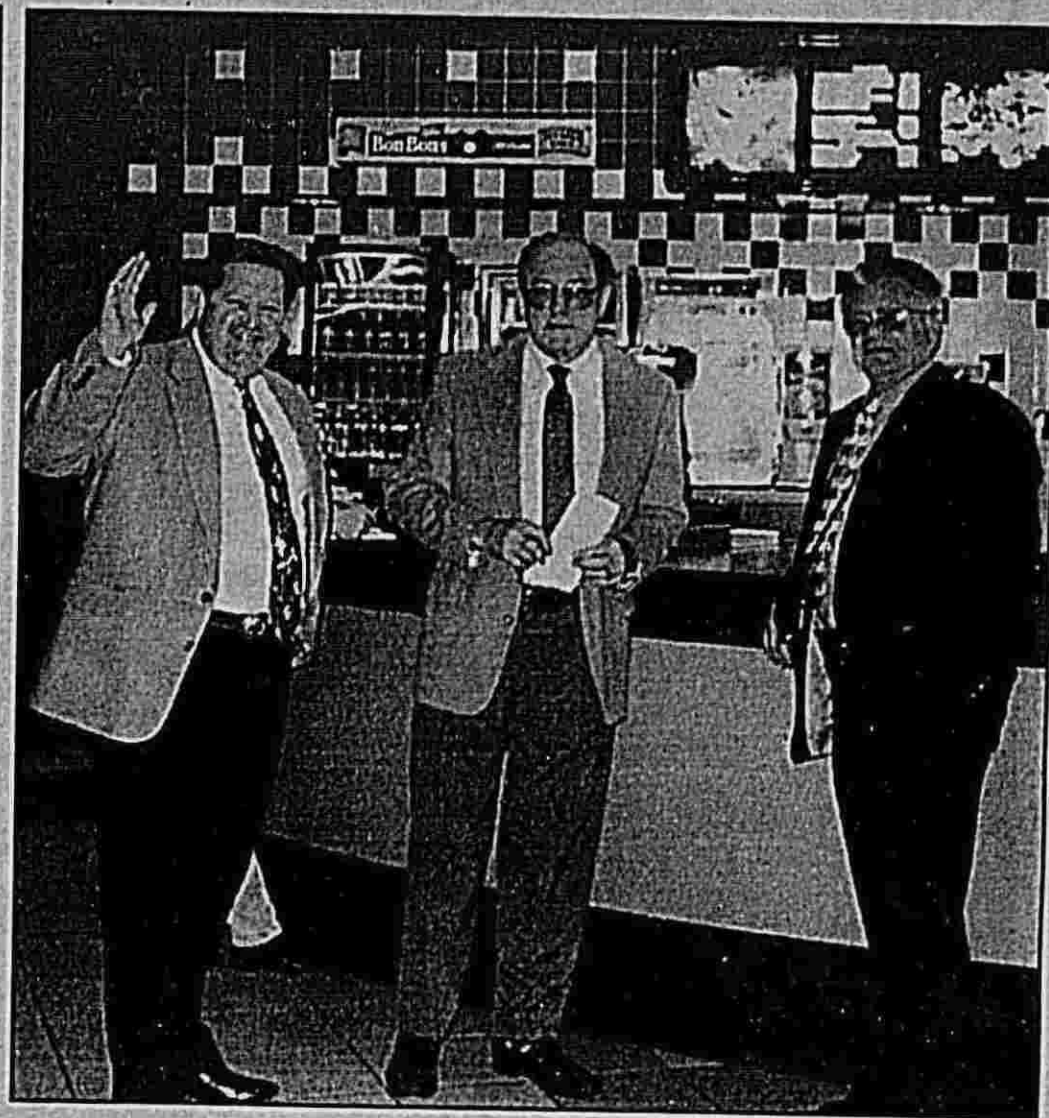

Marks was first elected to the board in November of 1992. She is strongly aligned with the new County Board majority, which favors "smart growth" and environmental protection.

While a Republican, Marks said she may bring some new ideas with her to Springfield if elected.

"I'd like to take my Republican conservation policy to Springfield," she said. "I think there's been a significant change among Republicans in Lake County in supporting conservation efforts, and I think that's a message we need to take to Springfield."

Lake County Republican Party Chairman John Schullien could not be reached for comment on whether any other Republican candidates have expressed an interest in running for the senate post.

Marks: Says chances are good she would defeat Link

County pinning for more road money

$132 million in additional county road projects identified; local sales tax may be funding option

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

With money desperately needed for road improvements, Lake County officials will go to Springfield to make a pitch for more county transportation dollars.

Lake County Division of Transportation Director Martin Buehler presented a Transportation Action Plan for Congestion Mitigation in Lake County to the County Board last week.

The plan calls for an additional $132 million to be spent on county roads. The money would be in addition to $92 million already earmarked in the county's five-year plan.

"What it does is starting to address the congestion backlog," said Buehler. "We've identified $132 million of projects throughout the county that could be done."

Buehler and County Board members Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside) and Judy Martini (R-Antioch) were expected to travel to Springfield this week to talk to state legislators about the report and the need for additional road dollars.

But where exactly would the money come from to fund the county road improvements?

It appears unlikely the State Legislature would allocate more state dollars for Lake County roads so the county is seeking authority to impose some type of countywide tax to help fund road improvements.

Currently, all the funding the county receives for road projects comes from state motor fuel tax dollars and some federal funds. The county would like the ability to raise additional local funds, possibly through either a local gas tax or a sales tax.

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle said while the issue of how the funds would be raised has not been explored in depth, the idea of a county sales tax seems to make the most sense.

"The sales tax has more durability over time (than the gas tax) and would allow us to address other needs like criminal justice," he said.

However, the county would first need legislative authority to implement a county sales tax, and then it would have to be approved by voters in the form of a referendum.

LaBelle concedes a countywide referendum for a sales tax would not be an easy sell, but believes most motorists recognize something needs to be done to address the traffic backlog.

During his presentation to the board, Buehler pointed out that traffic growth in Lake County from 1990 to 1998 is up 40 percent. The growth in the number of road improvement projects over that same period has only been about 15 percent.

"The transportation system is under stress in Lake County," Buehler said in his presentation of the report to the County Board last Friday. "Travel is up, it's way up."

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Beanie Babies stolen at gunpoint

Libertyville—On April 15, a husband and wife who sell Beanie Babies via the Internet, were at home with their two children when the phone lines went dead, disconnecting the husband from the Internet.

While he was at Kinko's, continuing his Internet work his wife, who was at home heard a loud crash and then encountered a man standing in the family room. He was wearing a black ski mask and dark clothing.

The intruder pointed a gun at the woman and threatened her. He then filled a plastic bag with Beanie Babies and ran from the house.

Police were unable to locate the suspect and an investigation revealed that the telephone lines had been cut.

An inventory showed that 54 Beanie Babies, worth $8,040, were stolen.

New road planned for Grayslake

Grayslake—The village has approved the execution of an engineering contract for the design of a new two lane road which will offer access to the soon to be constructed intermediate school, to be built at 625 N. Barron Blvd.

The intermediate school is scheduled open in August of 2000 and house 900 fifth and sixth grade students.

Voters approved $23,195,000 in bonds April 13 for the construction of two new schools in the district. The other facility would be a K-4 school, slated to open in August 2003.

Frederick Road will be built on District 46 property and will run from Route 83 to Atkinson Road. It will run parallel to Washington Street to the north and Center Street to the south.

The road is scheduled to be finished in time for the fall 2000 opening of the new school.

Community band hosts rehearsal

Antioch—Internationally known brass player Steve Sykes will participate in a rehearsal with the Lakes Area Community Band. Sykes will play and may also direct the band.

The rehearsal is open to the public and will be in the Antioch Community High School Band Room Monday, April 26 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sykes has been described in music publications as "the most revolutionary tuba player the brass world has ever known."

He is known for his remarkable playing technique, his wonderful tone on the instrument, and a five and a half octave range.

"I heard him once, and it is phenomenal what he does on the tuba," said Steve Porch, director of the Lakes Area Community Band.

Kane receives LWC Award

Lindenhurst—Lindenhurst Women's Club has given a Life Time Member award to Kathleen Kane.

"Kathleen shares this honor with our founder and past president Zenia Neumann," said Club President Yvette Ezell. "(Kane) was presented with a plaque which reads: 'In appreciation for all your unselfish work to make our club and the community a better place. Thank you.'"

Kane has been an active club member for 29 years and has held many offices in the club.

She has served as President of the club, as a secretary, and as a board member. "She has also chaired many fund-raising committees," said Ezell.

Kane said that she was surprised by the award and very happy to receive recognition for her contributions. "I think it's a great organization," she said. "It is a club that is doing a lot."

Veterans invited to movie screening

Round Lake Beach—Regal Cinemas invited veterans from the North Chicago VA Hospital to a free luncheon and private screening of the W.W.II epic "Saving Private Ryan," on April 14.

More than 30 veterans from the Vietnam era and Desert Storm came by bus to attend the event, which is the first of its kind for Regal Cinemas.

Theater manager Tony Marsala said he hopes to make this a regular event. In the future, Regal Cinemas wants to sponsor a free movie screening every month for area veteran organizations.

Carla Nash, Recreation Therapy Director at the North Chicago VA Hospital said, "It's important for the long-term care of the veterans to get out and do something, to get in-

CBCH concert benefits children

Lake Villa—Central Baptist Children's Home, State Bank of The Lakes, and area schools will present the music of "Peter and the Wolf" tomorrow, Saturday, April 24 at 5 p.m. in the auditorium of Antioch Community High School.

This classical music symphony will be performed by Sound Waves Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Richard Hynson.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students. Students may purchase tickets through their music departments. Tickets are also available at the ACHS auditorium at the time of performance.

The Central Baptist Children's Home Blue Ribbon Concert series is intended to bring recognition to April as Child Abuse Prevention Month, recognition of its child abuse prevention programs, and awareness of child abuse and neglect in Lake County.

Carmel student wins scholarship

Gurnee—Carmel High School student and Gurnee resident Gregory Smith was recently announced as one of 1,100 National Merit Scholarship winners in the United States.

Smith, a senior at Carmel, received the scholarship from Kenosha-based Snap-On Inc. Less than one percent of high school seniors across the U.S. win merit scholarships each year.

Last fall, 16,000 students were named as semifinalists for the merit program, chosen for being the highest scoring entrants in each state. The finalists chosen had to fulfill a number of requirements and an outstanding academic record in order to qualify.

Each of the scholarships range from $500 to $10,000, with many being renewable for up to four years of college.

Smith plans to study chemistry in college.

Students raise money for Kosovo

Mundelein—Students at Mechanics Grove Elementary School began a project on April 7, teaming up with the American Red Cross to raise money for relief efforts in Kosovo.

According to Principal Paul Mikulcik, the students have already raised a little over $300. The project was announced during an all-school assembly, Mikulcik said.

The students have heard about Kosovo from news programs, their parents, and have even discussed it lightly in school. Mikulcik said teachers have been careful with the discussions, however, to avoid frightening the children.

"I don't think they understand the political ramifications," said Mikulcik. "I think they do understand that people's homes are being destroyed, and they are being kicked out of their homes and are living in tents. The younger students just know that something bad is happening."

Valley Lakes progressing well

Round Lake—The new Valley Lakes home development in Round Lake began construction in the summer of 1998, and is progressing quickly, with buyers already settling in, and potential homeowners checking out what they have to offer.

Valley Lakes, owned by Pritzker Realty Group, promises to be one of the largest residential communities in Lake County, boasting 865 acres, half of which will be devoted to open space, wetlands, and wildlife preservation.

The development will have 21 residential neighborhoods with approximately 1,828 homes, that are now being built by Centex, D.R. Horton, and Numann Homes. Twenty-six acres have been set aside for commercial development, including a grocery store.

No TV for a week

Wadsworth—St. Patrick School in Wadsworth is encouraging students not to watch television April 22-28 for the fifth annual National TV-Turnoff Week.

Schools, libraries, and community groups nationwide will be encouraging people to plan family activities that don't revolve around watching television.

National TV-Turnoff Week is coordinated by TV-Free America, a national nonprofit organization that encourages Americans to "reduce, voluntarily and dramatically, the amount of television that they watch in order to promote richer and more connected lives, families, and communities."

The American Medical Association has determined that by the time a child graduates from high school, they will have spent more time watching television than being in school.

Officials not afraid of Y2K

Wauconda—Will Y2K be a problem in Wauconda? Not really, according to two Village officials who have the inside information. If anything, the Year 2000 bug affecting computer systems may be similar to any other emergency the Village experiences in the winter or heavy rain storm, said Police Chief Michael R. Greene.

"We do not really anticipate any problems," Greene said. "Everything we can think of we believe is in place. The way we are approaching it is it would be no worse than a bad snowstorm where power is blacked out."

Greene was a member of a Y2K panel that spoke at a seminar in the village on April 16 to discuss how prepared Wauconda was for Y2K. Mayor James Eschenbach said the village already had a plan of action, with all department heads informed. "If there is a problem, we will handle it," he said.

Village receives service award

Fox Lake—Village officials were pleasantly surprised to learn their town was selected as the first recipient of the Community Service Award from the Lake County Regional Action Planning Project (L.C.R.A.P.P.).

Mayor Jim Pappas accepted the award on behalf of the village at a breakfast meeting held April 16 in Grayslake, with Illinois Lieutenant Governor Corrine Wood the keynote speaker. "We are considered the community for youth programs," he said. "This is great for our village."

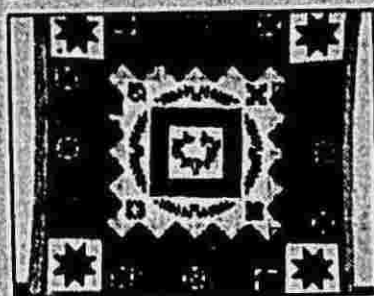

The Lake County R.A.P.P. organization is a multi-community alliance committed to promoting a healthy environment and to eliminating gang violence and juvenile crime-related issues through education, consultation and program development. The goal is to involve the whole community to find local solutions to local problems, Wood said.

Linking rooftops, school tax needs still 'iffy' notion

What's the link between rooftops and classrooms? As an underlying purpose, Illinois lawmakers in formulating the new consolidated election system in odd-numbered years were motivated by a desire to save money and increase voter turnout in non-partisan municipal elections and balloting for school board positions.

On the basis of what happened in the first ever consolidated election April 13, there is general agreement that cost-cutting objectives were met. An increase in the number of persons going to the polls failed to materialize.

Much less publicized and debated, was the belief among many legislators that it would be worthwhile to have one less opportunity to put referendums on the ballot and, near and dear to the heart of suburban representatives, was the notion of increasing accountability of elected officials controlling growth—the rooftops-classroom link.

There is a direct linkage between the number of new homes allowed to be built and the number of new classrooms required and the number of new teachers needed when the population explodes. With village officials and school board members running at the same time, did electors in growth-happy Lake County make that connection? The answer to this newspaper's preliminary analysis is yes, no and maybe.

Growth concerns rule ballot box

The most dramatic example of voter concern over growth came in Highland Park where Atty. Dan Pierce, who campaigned on a "slow growth" and "smart growth" platform drubbed incumbent Mayor Ray Geraci who trumpeted his efforts to revitalize a flagging downtown business district. The role growth plays in skyrocketing education costs played no part in the Pierce victory.

Closest example of a direct link between new subdivisions voted by village officials and escalating education costs came in Grayslake where electors dissatisfied with the pace and shape of growth elected three new trustees—Stacy Braverman, John MacAulay and Terese Douglass—and selected three new faces for the elementary board of education. There was a huge backlash against a proposed regional shopping mall in Hawthorn Woods and Barrington where voters punished incumbents on the ballot with forced retirement.

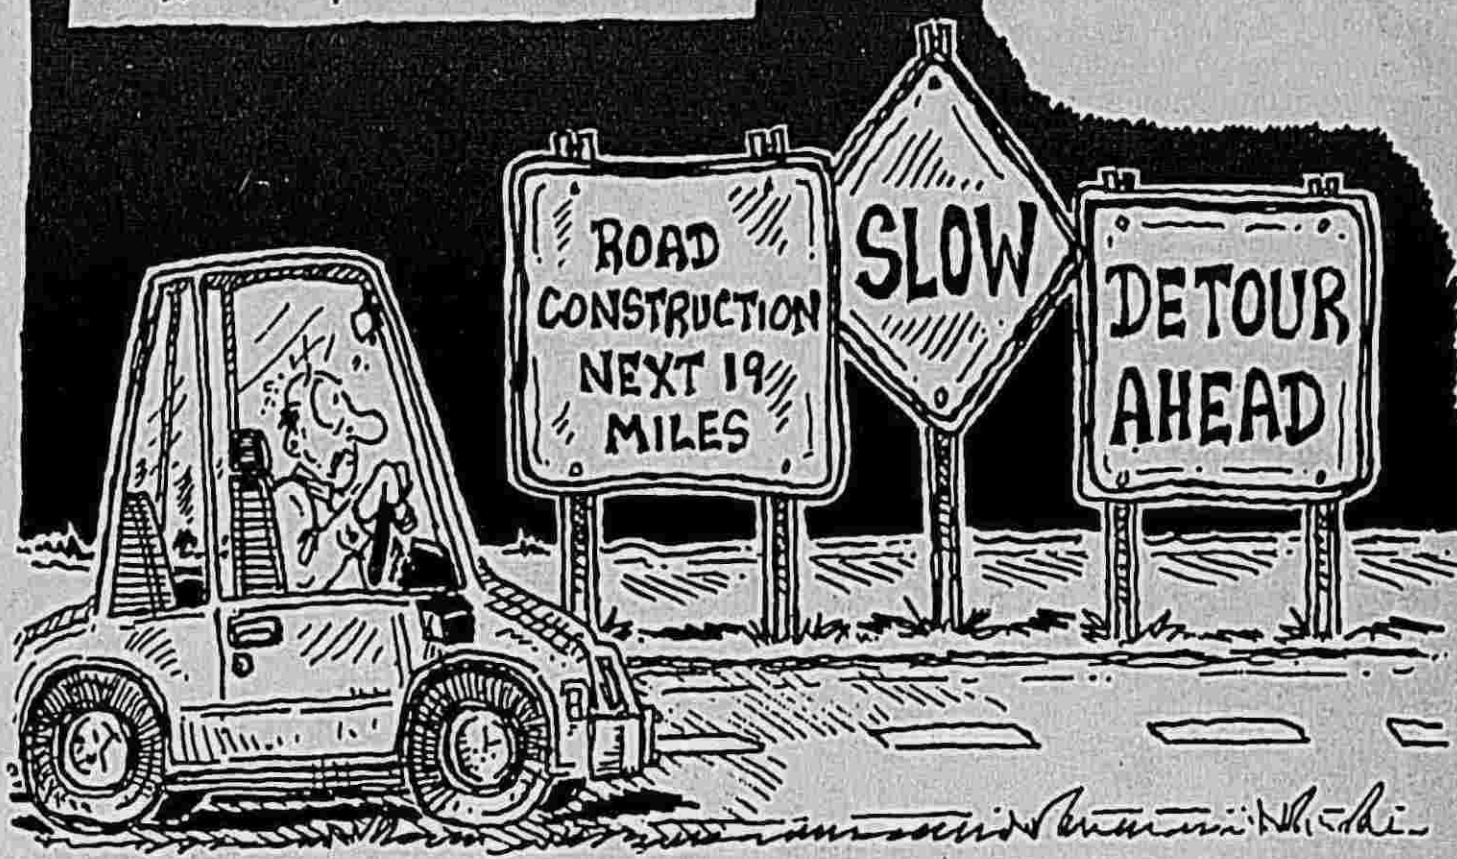

In Gurnee, the election outcome rested on opposition to over commercialization as exemplified by Mayor Dick Welton's leadership. Three anti-Welton candidates garnered seats on the village board—Kristina Kovarik, Don Rudny and Ray Damijonaitis. Trustee Evelyn Hoselton effectively exploited growth questions to unseat incumbent Wadsworth Mayor Don Craft, a friend of development.

Strong sentiment for controlled growth was evident in elections at Lake Villa and Antioch, but balloting outcomes indicated a willingness on the part of the electorate to support tax increases required to manage and control the negative consequences of growth. In the rapidly growing Round Lake area, where the school system is suffering from the pangs of a glut of residential construction, pro-growth candidates carried the day. At the same time, voters solidly rejected two school tax propositions. No linkage there, obviously.

Differing opinions on growth was not a factor in voting in Mundelein or Libertyville.

In the whole, though, taxpayer sentiment against the negative side of growth is showing itself here and there in Lake County. The trend likely will play out more prominently in the next consolidated election. The 2001 vote could well be a watershed.

THE REAL FIRST SIGNS OF SPRING

VIEWPOINT

Foreign leaders still getting bull

When foreign envoys come to Lake County for discussions, it's always a case of bull and more bull. Or so it seems.

Forty years ago, the late John F. Cuneo, hosted a visit of Russian agriculture commissars at his famed Hawthorn Melody Farm on S. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville. The Soviet ag experts saw everything the farm had to offer—dairy cattle, milk bottling works, prize pure bred bulls, beef feeding, poultry and egg operation and hog raising. The Russians appeared to be most taken with Hawthorn's cattle breeding facilities and a barn full of blue ribbon Holstein sires.

Besides his huge printing operation in Chicago and extensive banking interests, the Libertyville magnet had an international reputation as a modern farmer. This delighted Mr. Cuneo to no end.

At the conclusion of the tour, the Russians and members of the press were ushered onto the veranda of the sprawling Cuneo mansion for drinks and sandwiches. Since the time was before Cold War disengagement, everyone was in high spirits. The head of the Russian delegation spurned vodka when offered the national USSR beverage of choice and replied with a broad smile through an interpreter, "I'll have the same as my host."

Mr. Cuneo was enjoying gin and tonic at the time, so the proper Russian gamely downed several gin and tonics, as did members of the press corps., including your correspondent.

At the height of the conviviality, John F. Cuneo touched the arm of the ranking visitor and inquired, "Tell me, is there anything else you'd like to see?"

The Russian leader offered a curt two word reply: "More bull" to gales of laughter from newsmen.

History repeated itself several weeks ago when Chinese Premier Zhu Rongji visited Marellbar Farm in rural Waukegan and host Tom Pritzker of the wealthy Chicago Pritzker family presented Zhu with a Chicago Bulls jacket and a 1,500 pound Black Angus bull.

It's still bull when the foreign leaders come to Lake County. And more bull.

New season

Jeff Zgonina, former all-state tackle from Carmel High and all-Big Ten at Purdue, has signed with St. Louis for his seventh season in the National Football League. This will be the Barrington resident's second stint with the Rams.

Happy time

There's a reason why Tom McCarthy is all smiles these days. The Antioch High graduate is a principal in Affinity Process Services Inc., which has settled comfortably into a sparkling new 40,000 square foot home in Lake Zurich. Affinity is a leader in the ultra-high tech field of high speed laser imprinting for the insurance industry and custom mailing.

On top of this, Tom and his wife, residents of Grayslake, have a new baby in the house. McCarthy, a computer design engineer, is a Lake Countyman all the way, having grown up in Libertyville.

Daring duet

Calabresa: "Voters want to keep Lake County special"

Neal lauded on reserve retirement

Bob Neal, formerly Mr. Everything in Lake County politics, received full military honors at a ceremony at Great Lakes Naval Training Center following his retirement from the Navy Reserve.

Despite a hectic schedule in elective office, deep involvement in civic causes and managing his electronics business, Bob devoted more than three decades to military service. He retired as a lieutenant commander.

More than 100 friends and guests witnessed the colorful proceedings. The Wadsworth resident also was decorated for meritorious service.

Neal served on the Lake County Board, township government, was a director of the Illinois Tollway Commission and served as Lake County Republican chairman.

His early compliance on efforts to prepare the Navy for Y2K compliance was cited at the ceremony.

Happy camper

State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) did a Ron Santo-style heel click to celebrate the Dan Pierce victory as mayor of Highland Park. Pierce, a Democrat, bested incumbent Ray Geraci, giving evidence that Democrats have a solid organization in the 30th State Senatorial District. Link plans on building on the Pierce win to support his reelection efforts next year.

Want bypass

Barrington officials feel they have been successful in getting the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) to back off on plans to widen Hough Street (Route 59) to four lanes. Mayor Ronald Hamelberg prefers a Route 59 bypass, a proposal that has IDOT engineers scratching their heads. Some Barrington merchants like the fact that 27,000 cars pass through town every day, guaranteed exposure to their places of business.

Special place

Carol Calabresa, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District, spent the day after election on the phone thanking supporters of the $55 million bond issue that overwhelmed approval. "People move to Lake County for special reasons and they showed us they are willing to pay more taxes to keep Lake County special," Calabresa observed. Carol only giggled when asked if the lop-sided victory for open space and the environment drove a dagger through the heart of the county's pro-growth fringe.

Guess who's coming to dinner?

Elizabeth Dole will be the special guest speaker at the Lake County Republican Federation's Annual Spring Dinner. The dinner is set for Friday, April 30 at 6 p.m. in the Lincolnshire Marriott.

Dole, former executive director of the American Red Cross, is considering a possible bid for the White House in 2000. She is the wife of former U.S. Senator and presidential candidate Bob Dole.

"I have to thank our keynote speaker Senator Peter Fitzgerald and my dear friend Clark Pellet, Republican committeemen of Chicago's 42nd Ward, for their efforts in helping me retain Mrs. Dole," said Antonietta Simonian, executive director of Lake County's Republican Party Headquarters.

In addition to Dole and Fitzgerald, others scheduled to speak at the dinner are Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood, Congressman John Porter (R-10th Dist.) and Phil Crane (R-8th Dist.) and newly appointed State Party Chairman Rich Williamson.

For information on ticket sales, contact Simonian at Lake County Republican Headquarters at 680-6680. Patron tickets are $250 and dinner tickets $100.

Reader's Digest: fun and frown

A woman named Deborah Shapiro contributed this homespun humor to the current issue of Reader's Digest magazine:

"After four members of my family turned 40, we found out how much the kids had picked up on their trepidation. The day before my niece's 9th birthday, she observed, 'Tomorrow I'll be nine, and next year it's the big one-oh.'"

That's so good, I had to pass it along.

Reader's Digest pays up to $400 for such brief, amusing stories. Each issue contains more than 50 of them.

Sometimes the contributor's hometown is mentioned, so I look to see if someone from our Lakeland area made it into the magazine. The chances are slim, there are thousands of submissions.

Two years ago, Renee Boyle of Mundelein successfully caught an editor's eye with this $400 item:

"A nearby grocery store issues checkout coupons for your next shopping trip based on products you have bought that day. If you buy cereal, for example, they might give you coupons for future cereal purchases. Not long ago, I picked up some jalapeno peppers, green peppers, taco sauce, hot sauce, onions and other ingredients for making tacos.

"I got one coupon that day: for $1 off my next purchase of Tums!"

Over the years I have submitted a few of my favorite yarns, but nary a nibble. I'll keep trying; it's fun, something like playing the lottery.

Alas, however, dear old Reader's Digest has become a contradiction. Its articles are interesting and informative family fare but its money-making methods are suspect. Several states and the U.S. Senate have been investigating to determine if Reader's Digest in its sweepstakes promotions is misleading consumers, especially older Americans, into thinking they've won big prizes. They say Reader's Digest is violating consumer laws by not prominently displaying the infinitesimal odds of winning and not printing qualifying language in large enough type.

Wisconsin, for example, accused the Reader's Digest Association, Inc., for "fraudulent and deceptive advertising." Pointing to an 83-year-old man who spent about $25,000 ordering merchandise he never used, officials said he was only one of dozens of Wisconsin victims that Reader's Digest misled into believing they were big winners of the magazine's sweepstakes.

This came after another sweepstakes outfit, American Family Publishers, agreed with 32 states to stop telling consumers they are "winners" or have already "won" a prize unless that actually happens. Another rival, Publishers Clearing House, also is being investigated.

Reader's Digest maintains, "You don't have to buy anything to win the sweepstakes," but some people get the impression they may be just another purchase or two away from qualifying for a mammoth amount of money—by subscribing to a magazine, buying a book, a video or some other product they don't necessarily need or want.

Meanwhile, I remain one good anecdote away from a check for $400. Let's see, there was the time I came home and was greeted in the driveway by my overweight dog.

"How was your day, Fatso?" I asked. "Fine, and how was yours?" replied my neighbor, who I hadn't noticed was soaking up sunshine in a lawn chair.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Forest Preserve will spend public's money wisely

During the April 13 election, voters approved the Lake County Forest Preserves' referendum and said "yes" to acquiring and restoring land, protecting rare species, and creating more trails and other outdoor recreation and education opportunities in their Forest Preserves.

On behalf of the entire Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners, staff and volunteers, I extend a very sincere "thank you" to the nearly 51,000 Lake County voters who overwhelmingly supported the Forest Preserves' $55 million referendum. Now we can move forward to preserve and protect more natural areas, and create trails and other outdoor recreation and education opportunities in Forest Preserves throughout Lake County.

For me, the referendum campaign was a very gratifying and positive experience. I am especially proud of the diverse coalition of conservation, civic and business leaders and the hundreds of community volunteers who came together to support the campaign. Under the skilled leadership of Campaign Co-chairs Joyce O'Keefe of the Open Lands Project and Richard Brown of Cambridge Homes, the Friends of the Forest Preserves, a volunteer group, did a great job of spreading the message about the importance of the referendum. Community volunteers organized presentations, produced and mailed informational brochures, made over 17,000 telephone calls to Lake County voters and raised thousands of dollars of private funds to pay for the campaign. No tax dollars were used.

I want to assure all Lake County residents that referendum funds will be spent wisely. We will also continue to solicit matching grants, sponsorships and donations, and increase revenue generating programs so your tax dollars go even further.

Preserving the wonderful quality of life that we all enjoy as residents of Lake County is my consuming passion. I am heartened by the groundswell of support from Lake County voters and our committed volunteers. Thanks to voters, we can continue our mission to expand current preserves and purchase wonderful new land while it's still available, and preserve and protect it for ourselves and future generations to enjoy.

*Carol Calabresa, president
Lake County Forest Preserves*

Pro-growth candidates are casualties

The tide is slowly turning; 20 years ago we could number all the curb-over-development elected officials in all the villages and on the County Board on one hand with a couple of fingers to spare. The election of April 13 gave everyone a reason to be encouraged with the results of North Barrington, Hawthorn

Woods, Grayslake, Gurnee and Highland Park. I predict in the next municipal elections there will be many more pro-growth political casualties. Even tiny Volo will not be immune.

However, the battle has just begun, and the development industry, which sees every vacant acre of land as their rightful marketplace, is not going to roll over. It is not an environmental issue, it is a tax issue, and always has been. As long as the public continues to subsidize development due to completely inadequate impact fees for all services (not only schools), it costs the taxpayers more to develop the land than to preserve the land. Much damage has been done but much can still be salvaged if enough right thinking people get involved in government.

Take the time to vote

The more I read newspapers, watch TV and listen to the radio, I become more confused as to what are the most serious problems we the residents of Lake County face in everyday life. What are the issues that most annoys, irritates, or aggravates each of us. We all have such a large selection. So I would like to find out exactly what the most important issues really are.

Taxes, a monster that just keeps on growing and growing with no end in sight, how long can any one of us keep up to them. Congested and crumbling roads and lack of public transportation, what can be done about these, they are getting worse in Lake County all the time.

The most powerful weapon of all is your vote. Each vote that is cast, win or lose shows how much interest people have in their community, township or county. The more votes the more influence your area has. If you do not vote you still pay but are not heard.

If you are not registered to vote do so, it's easy and fast.

If you are registered—get out and vote every election it only takes five minutes and is so very important to the future of Lake County.

*Bob Powers

Time to slow process

On Feb. 25, the Illinois EPA granted to an applicant identified as In-deck a construction permit "to construct emission source(s)—consisting of two gas turbines." This has been accomplished quietly, without any input or comment from the public. In-deck can now apply to the Village of Libertyville for a building permit.

The company will propose to build a merchant power plant in the Mallory Industrial Park. They plan to operate two jet engines to generate power for up to 4,000 engine hours per year with accompanying noise and air pollution per the permit.

This strategy of exclusion and surprise is unfortunate because it puts the full burden of public discussion on the Village of Libertyville. This really seems to be an unnecessary and an unfair shifting of responsibility.

Apparently, the assumption being made is that they can sneak this by the public. That because this is a business park, no one will care if a power plant is located there. This could be an incorrect assumption. The surrounding business park consists of offices, service, light manufacturing and research type businesses. A power plant would be a total change in character.

Outside of this park, there are more than a dozen residential neighborhoods affected by the siting of such a power plant. Both the business and neighborhood communities share the same concerns for the potential negative effect on community health and property values. What would this plant contribute to the community?

If an application is entered, a thorough public review of the pros and cons of the proposal will be needed. The Village of Libertyville has been handed the role of sole arbitrator because of the way that In-deck has proceeded so far.

4-H members meet with lawmakers at Capitol

Over 2,000 4-H members and their families from across the state met with legislators from their hometown districts, toured the State Capitol and learned how the legislative process works during the 4-H Legislative Connection.

Local 4-H members also displayed their Superior-award 4-H project from the state fair last summer. This "best of the best" display of more than 600 diverse 4-H projects filled every hallway on the first floor of the capitol building.

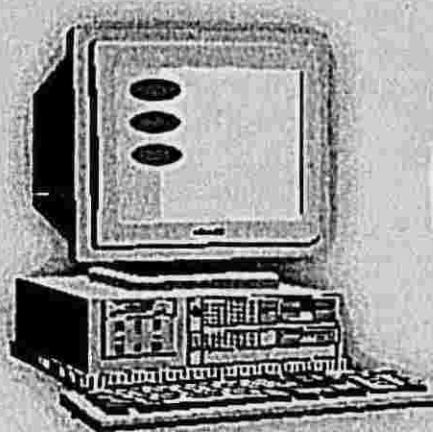

The one-day event was designed to give youth the opportunity to meet their legislators and learn about lawmaking, and to help state officials learn more about the Illinois 4-H Program.

Youth from the 62nd Legislative District in Lake County participated in the event. They included Chelsey Anderson of Waukegan, Nicholas Gryzowski of Fox Lake, Jaclyn Kulakowski of Lindenhurst and Erica Stiner of Zion.

Among the projects on display were a hand-made grandfather clock, a computer built from scratch, and a full-sized, hand-made canoe. The 4-H Legislative Connection has become an annual event at the State Capitol in March.

ROAD: Money needed

To address the increasing congestion backlog, the Lake County Division of Transportation's report identifies a total of 45 county road widening projects which need to be addressed to keep pace with the growth.

The report also points to other needs than just improvements to county roads. It also asks for the Illinois Department of Transportation to make improvements to 11 state maintained roads in the county.

The issue of Metra train service was also addressed by the report. In particular, the county would like the Federal Transit Administration to reconsider its recent decision not to expand the North Central Metra commuter line. The county would like to see Metra increase the level of service along the North Central Line from 10 per day to 22 trains per day, and add five new train stations.

Most board members agreed the county's transportation problems were serious and needed to be addressed. However, board member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) said she believes local villages and towns should have a greater say in what projects will be done so that everybody is on board.

"I think it's time we call a countywide meeting. We need the municipalities to help us find a solution. We have to have everybody on board for this to work," she said.

Specific road projects

Here are a few of the projects identified as needed county road improvements by Lake County Division of Transportation:

- Lake Avenue at Route 173, Intersection improvement, widen to three lane approaches, install traffic signals, $1.2 million.

- Deep Lake Road at North Avenue, intersection improvement, widen to three lane approaches, install traffic signals, $1.3 million.

- Fairfield Road at Monaville Road, intersection improvement, widen to three lane approaches, install traffic signals, $1.3 million.

- Cedar Lake Road at Monaville, intersection improvement, widen to five lane approaches, install traffic signals, $2.2 million.

- Rollins Road, east of Route 83 to U.S. Route 45, adding additional lane in each direction, add continuous center left turn lane, $6.1 million.

- Wilson Road at Nippersink Road, intersection improvement, widen to five lane approaches on Wilson Road, widen to three lane approaches on Nippersink Road, install traffic signals, $1.7 million.

- Fairfield Road at Illinois Route 134, intersection improvement, widen to five lane approaches, upgrade traffic signals, $2.2 million.

- Cedar Lake Road at Illinois Route 134, road realignment, realign intersection west of current intersection, southern leg of bypass downtown area, intersection improvement at Illinois Route 134, install traffic signals.

- Washington Street, U.S. Route 45 to Hunt Club Road, add additional lane in each direction, add continuous center left turn lane, upgrade traffic signals at Almond Road and Hunt Club Road.

- Peterson Road at Illinois Route 60, road realignment, realign Peterson Road east of current intersection, intersection improvement, widen to five lane approaches, install traffic signals.

Three Terrific Triplets - Powerful, life-changing words

My good friend Webster defines triplet as: "A collection or group of three." So today, I offer you three groups of three very special words.

These are not ordinary words. Rather, they are powerful, life-changing words. These triplets will help you build your business, put sizzle in your career and maybe even spice up your love life.

They are not new words and I haven't even combined them in a new way. You've heard them before and many of you have probably even used these powerful triplets.

So why do I bring them up again? Because they contain great wisdom. And, wisdom - when applied - will change your life.

Words to Live By

The first powerhouse triplet is - and then some. If you're in school, do all your teachers ask of you - and then some. If you work for someone else, do all your boss asks you to - and then some. If you own your own business, give your customers great service - and then some.

Want to help your favorite church or charity? Write out a nice check - and then some. Know someone who needs a caring friend? Be that friend - and then some. If your partner needs a lift, offer a helping hand - and then some.

I've watched the lives of many successful people over the years and every true success I've ever met was an "and then some" person. Go the extra mile and do a little more than is expected. You'll find life will be very rewarding - and then some.

The second triplet is - yes I can. Life doesn't always give us what we expect. Our friends sometimes let us down and trouble sometimes picks us up. When you are faced with an impossible mountain to climb, focus on the summit and say these words - yes I can.

When your boss asks for a little more effort, just look him in the eye and say - yes I can. When the doctor gives you bad news and you don't know if you can handle the challenge, just say to yourself - yes I can.

Several years ago, I was asked to write a newspaper column for small-business owners. The pessimistic little monkey, who sits on my shoulder and whispers negative words in my ear, immediately went to work. He said, "You're not a writer. No one will read what you write! You can't even spell very well."

I brushed that little monkey off my shoulder with these three words - yes I can. Then, I began to write. Nine years later, you're one of more than a million readers who seek out Minding Your Own Business every week.

The third powerful triplet is - I love you. If you are a parent or if you have parents, use these words - I love you. If you have friends say - I love you. If you are married call your spouse and say - I love you.

Remember friends, actions speak louder than words. You can convey this message without moving your lips. Do something special, sponta-

Institute opens doors to better job future

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

A plant closing can be devastating to the workers who lose their jobs. But one organization is helping numerous dislocated workers and others find decent-paying jobs throughout Lake and McHenry Counties.

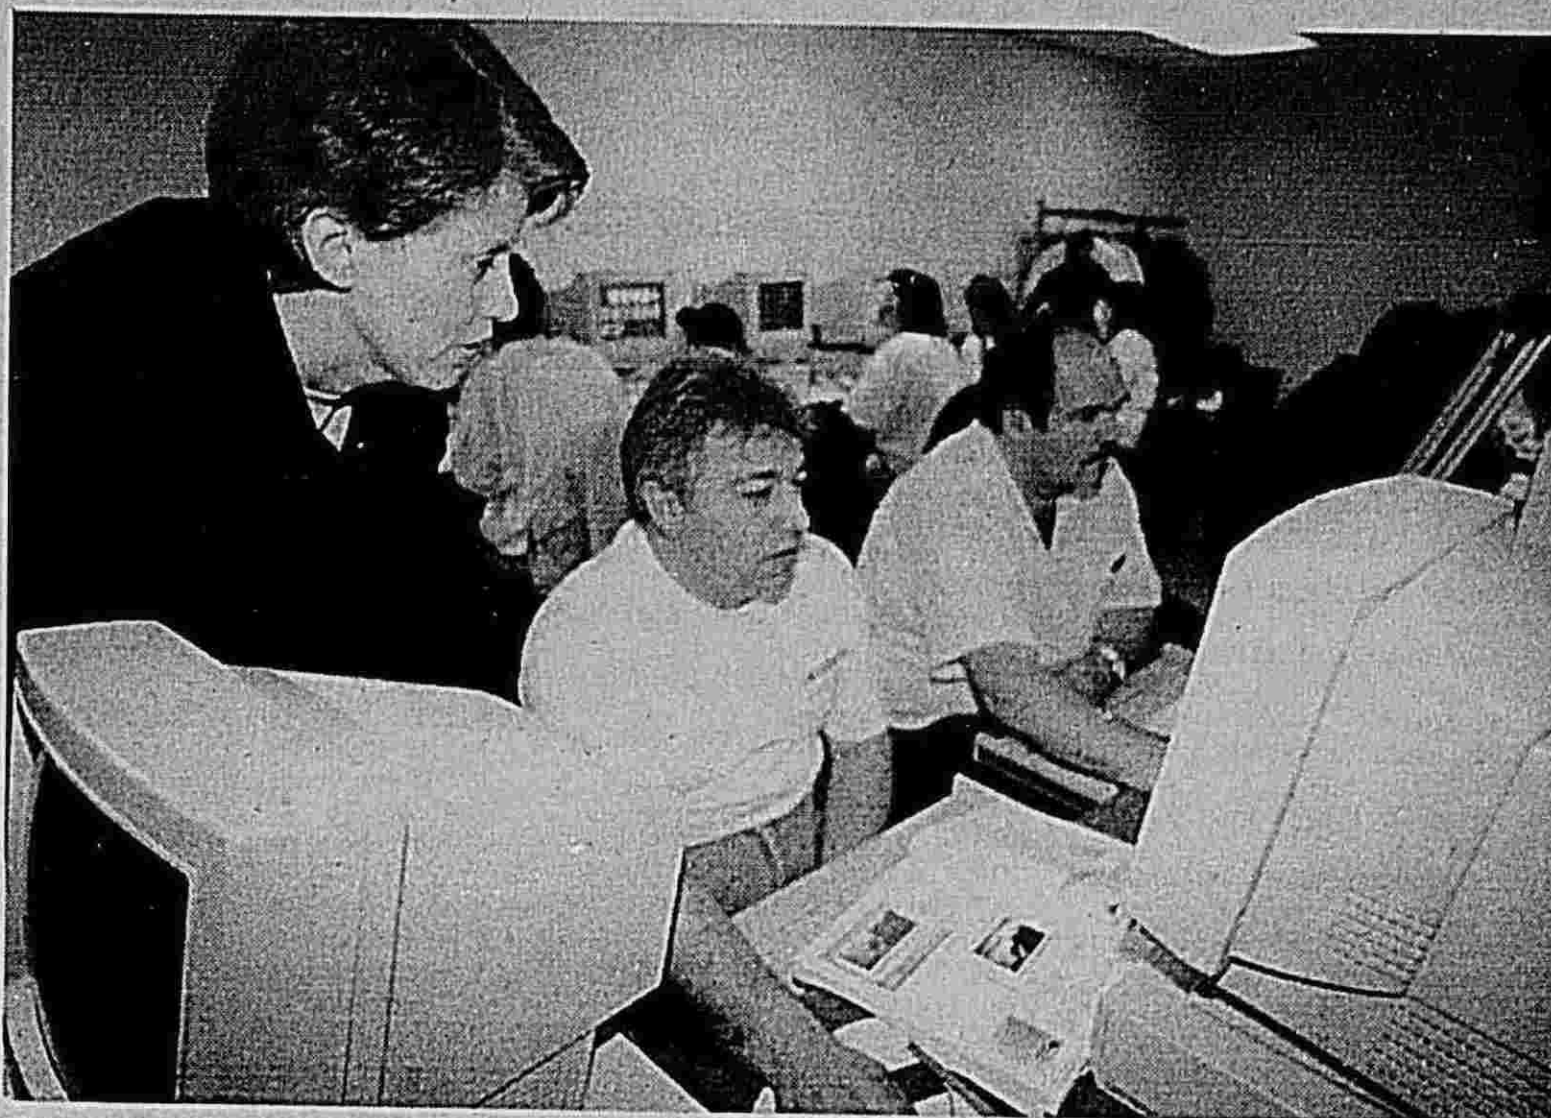

First Institute, a nationally accredited organization based in Crystal Lake, is run by brothers Ron and Eric Beier. Their parents started the company in 1982 as a training school for travel agents. Today, the company provides computer training courses in addition to its travel agent training.

A six to 30-week computer course includes training in the areas of A+ Certified Technicians, computer network administration and business computer applications featuring Microsoft Office. Students attend classes 40 hours per week.

"Job placement is a huge part of what we do," said Ron Beier. "Students receive coaching and undergo mock job interviews. We help them pull together resumes and dress correctly for the office."

Many of the students enrolled at First Institute are unable to afford the $3,000 to $7,000 tuition themselves. Through federally legislated funding, the Private Industry Council of Lake County assists numerous individuals to undergo First Institute's training. Last year, it covered the tuition of 72 students. Seventy-seven percent of those who completed the training found jobs.

"We have worked with First Institute for six or seven years," said Pat Cox, a PIC grants administrator. "The program is very popular with our people. In 13 weeks they get certified and learn the skills to earn a good living. And the demand for jobs in the computer industry is enormous."

Beier said a team approach is one of the keys to his company's success.

"We've done well by having a customer approach to education you don't always find," he said. "We're in a partnership with our students. They want careers and we work toward that every day. We're very proud of the results we get from our students."

Beier said that once students attain jobs, that doesn't necessarily end their relationship with First Institute.

"Our graduates can always call to ask questions," said Beier. "And if they're looking for new jobs in the future, our job placement is ongoing. They can come back again and again."

Monica Hernandez of Round Lake Beach is a processing assistant with Hewitt & Associates as a result of her First Institute training.

"I worked before but my company closed," said Hernandez. "I have a much better job now. My salary increased by 35 percent. First Institute gave me the training and self confidence I needed. It opened doors to a better future."

Anchor Bank elects new chairman and vice chairman to board

At the March meeting of the Anchor Bank Board of Directors, two current board members were elected to new leadership positions.

Phil Coleman of Riverwoods, was named Chairman of the Board of Anchor Bank and John (Jack) Richtman of Grayslake, was named Vice Chairman. John R. Burnett continues as President and CEO.

Coleman:

chairman of the board

Coleman, a retired and founding partner of the accounting firm, Coleman, Epstein, Berlin & Company of Chicago, is one of the founding members of the Lake Region Bancorp, the group that owns Anchor Bank. He has served as a member of the Anchor Bank Board since late 1996.

He is a CPA and graduate of Northwestern's Kellogg School of Business and has extensive experience in general accounting, auditing and tax matters.

Mr. Coleman has been integral to the controlled growth and development of Anchor Bank during the past few years and is very anxious to be more involved in the strategic planning of the bank's future.

"I am very proud to be part of Anchor Bank. I look forward to working more closely with John Burnett, the President and CEO, the management and the staff. With all the large bank mergers that have happened recently, I think that Anchor Bank stands in a great position to offer a friendly alternative to big banking. Our bank was built on friendly and personable service, and it is our primary objective to never change that. However, we are also now concentrating on offering more convenient locations and some of the same services that people have come to expect from bigger banks. Our 5-year plan includes being the premier community bank in North Central Lake County," he said.

Coleman resides in Riverwoods, Illinois with his wife Helen.

John "Jack" Richtman, the new Vice Chairman of Anchor Bank, resides in Grayslake with his wife, Bonnie, and 5 children. Jack, a lawyer at Grayslake's Churchill, Baumgartner and Quinn, Ltd. since 1989, specializes in probate and estate planning. A native of St. Paul, Minnesota, Richtman attended the University of Illinois in Chicago and received his law degree from DePaul.

Mr. Richtman has been on the Board of Anchor Bank since 1995. He has also been a customer of the bank since its humble beginnings when the bank operated out of a trailer adjacent to the current facility on Hwy. 45 & Washington St.

"I was proud as I was invited to be on the board in 1995, and I am proud to accept this position of Vice Chairman today. I still look at Anchor Bank as a place where people like to visit. It's a very friendly place with a wonderful group of people. I look forward to working with the board and with the people of the bank to make Anchor Bank a very important fixture in this county," Richtman said.

Richtman sits on the Loan and Strategic Planning committees of the Anchor Board, where his legal experience coupled with his familiarity with the community and the general area are a real asset. Jack is also a member of the Exchange Club of Grayslake and the Exchange Foundation of Lake County that work for the prevention of child abuse. He is also on the Trust and Estate Section Council for the Illinois State Bar Association and the Trust Estates Committee for the Lake County Bar Association.

Anchor Bank's main branch is located on Hwy. 45, just north of Washington St. that true community banking provides. Anchor branches are located on Hwy. 45 just north of Washington St., in Grayslake. Other branches are located inside of Super Kmart in Round Lake Beach and at 1914 E. Grand Av. in Lindenhurst. John R. Burnett is the President and CEO.

Tri State Corporate Center signs major leases

Tri-State Realty President Robert Elbrecht announced 113,000 sq. ft. of office transactions for Phases 4-7 at the Grand Tri-State Corporate Center in Gurnee. Telehub, a telecommunications company, expanded into two buildings for its network control center in 42,000 sq. ft. and 10,000 sq. ft., bringing the total occupancy in the Corporate Center to approximately 92,000 sq. ft.

W. W. Grainger preleased 40,000 sq. ft. in for its customer solutions operations and Snap-on Credit LLC has signed on for 21,000 sq. ft. for its newly formed credit operations center in Phase 7.

"This has been a very successful office development due to a number of factors", says Robert Elbrecht, leasing agent for the Grand Tri-State Corporate Center. "Availability for reasonably priced single-story office space fronting I-94 and the prominent location and available amenities at the Route 132 (Grand Avenue) and I-94 interchange in Gurnee have put the Grand Tri-State Corporate Center on the short list for most companies looking for office space in Northern Lake County."

The seven phases of this class A single-story office project are located within the Grand Tri-State Business Park at the I-94 and Rt. 132 (Grand Avenue) interchange. Phases neous and unexpected. Write a note, do an act of kindness or give a small gift. Little things mean a lot. Do something nice and your actions will say - I love you.

TAYLOR: Power trio of words that can change your life

I am certain there is a shortage of "active" I love you's in the world today. It is easy to say - I love you. It is much more difficult to show our love to our fellow man with random, unplanned acts of kindness.

I hope you'll adopt these three sets of triplets. The world needs more and then some folks, who greet their challenges with yes I can and who never hesitate to say - with meaning - I love you.

These Fine Businesses Care About Our Children!

Our Children
Are Our Future

Plum Catering has been feeding children's day-care centers and preschools since 1984. During this time we have developed our menus in many ways. We have learned to provide a wide variety of healthful meals in the quantities that satisfy the children and never leave them hungry. These portions greatly exceed the State of Illinois and Federal requirements. Most caterers only provide minimum serving size requirements.

	State of Illinois	Plum Catering
Protein	1 1/2 oz. (by weight)	2 to 3 oz. (1/3 to twice as much)
Complex Carbohydrates	2 oz. (by volume)	3 oz. (50% more)
Fruit	1/4 cup (1/2 piece)	1/2 cup (whole piece, twice as much)
Bread	1/2 slice	Whole slice (twice as much)

Plum's prices are very competitive.
In fact, you get a whole lot more for your money!

Plum uses a minimum of red meat, approximately once per week. We use ground chicken to make spaghetti sauces, sloppy joes, tacos, etc. Our menu has always offered fresh fruit for dessert, with the occasional use of canned fruits to provide more variety during seasons with limited varieties of fresh fruit. The menu leans toward an abundance of whole wheat breads, and there is always at least two vegetables plus the fruit.

We try to be as accommodating as possible to our customers, doing those special little things that help solve their problems: what time they get the food, do they want it hot, or cold to be warmed up in their oven so it isn't heated as long, special situations, special bag lunches, special early deliveries, etc.

You will love Debbie Kaiser, our Office Manager. She's always friendly and will help satisfy your needs. Debbie's experience as a day-care center director helps her understand your day-to-day situations and problems. Raymond Mayfield is our Production Manager. If you have a question about your lunches, he's the guy that produces them. Feel free to ask him questions at any time.

Dennis Kijek is in charge of Plum Services, which can provide many of your center's needs: cookies, crackers, juices, snack items, foam and paper products, cleaning supplies, etc. You will always talk to real people - no voice mail, etc. We're all here to help. You are the reason Plum Catering and Plum Services exist.

And, of course, you can always ask for me,

Hurry up and wait guidelines for spring lawn care

Homeowners itching to start lawn care projects need to hurry up to do some chores, but they can delay others. It turns out that the growth pattern of grasses, weeds and insects should determine the timing of various chores rather than a need to cross jobs off one's list. This is especially true for lawn fertilization.

"It's best to apply the first full fertilizer application of the season during the first two weeks in May, using a fertilizer with an analysis ratio of 3-1-2, 4-1-2, or 5-1-2. An earlier application of fertilizer increases the potential for leaf spot diseases that affect grass," said Tom Voigt, U of I Extension Turf Specialist.

Early spring is definitely the optimum time to control annual grassy weeds. Typically, weeds such as crabgrass emerge from the soil. Crabgrass will germinate when soil temperatures are approximately 60 degrees at the 1/4-inch level for 3 to 5 consecutive days. Other annual grasses, such as green foxtail or goosegrass, germinate as soils get warmer than 60 degrees," said Voigt.

Using forsythia bloom as a guide is not dependable. Generally, for central Illinois, mid-to late-April is the suggested time for applying a preemergence crabgrass herbicide. In the southern portion of Illinois, make the application one- to two-weeks earlier, one-to two-weeks later in northern Illinois. But soil temperature is the most precise method for timing application.

He suggests spot treating weeds rather than broadcasting weed killer over the entire area. This technique uses less product which saves money, but for lawns with few weeds, a broadcast application is wasteful.

Newly seeded lawns can be sensitive to the chemicals used to control broadleaf weeds.

"The recommendation is to wait four mowings before treating a newly seeded lawn and wait 30 days before seeding an area already treated with broadleaf herbicides," said Voigt.

Mowing Recommendations

Most lawn grasses should be mowed between 2 and 3 inches in height. Try not to remove more than one-third of the leaf tips at any one mowing.

"Normally, clippings should be returned to the turf, but they should be dispersed or collected if they are long and remain visible on the turf surface 24 hours after mowing. At minimum, sharpen mower blades after every 30 hours of use," said Voigt.

Dethatching, power raking and core cultivation activities should be done when the turf is actively growing, usually during late April or May.

Grub Control

Although some commercial lawn care and landscape companies offer applications of grub-control products in the spring, it is not an optimum recommendation.

"In the spring, annual white and true white grubs are relatively large and difficult to control. Moreover, because of rapid growth during spring, turfgrasses normally outgrow any minor damage that may occur," said Voigt.

When grub control is necessary, insecticides should be applied during the mid summer through early autumn period following egg hatch.

LaCASA plans to add group training room

Thanks to a major grant from the Washington Square Health Foundation-Chicago, The Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault is moving ahead with plans to incorporate an integrated group training room into its headquarters at 4275 Grand Ave. in Gurnee. The generous grant will be used to purchase state-of-the-art audio/visual equipment and a podium for the new "Washington Square Health Foundation Training Center" at the LaCASA/Richard Zacharias Center, as well as to cover the salaries of SANE (Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners) program professional trainers and video productions.

"This grant is extremely important to Lake County residents because it will enable LaCASA to provide highly effective training for medical professionals and other groups such as law enforcement officers, legal administrators and counselors, as well as our staff and volunteers," said Torrie Flink, LaCASA's Executive Director. "Our training programs are the basis for all of our personal and group advocacy and community awareness programs, and now they will be more impactful and successful than ever."

The SANE program is a pilot program in Illinois, designed to partner the health, legal and criminal justice professionals throughout Lake County to help ensure availability of the best possible care for sexual assault and abuse survivors.

The LaCASA/Zacharias Center is a non-profit organization that raises sexual assault awareness across Lake County. Among LaCASA's many programs which benefit area residents are: community education, counseling for child and adult sexual assault survivors, legal and medical advocacy, emergency room and police training and a 24-hour hotline for crisis intervention. In the past two years, LaCASA has aided over 25,000 Lake County residents.

To find out more about LaCASA and how to become a volunteer or benefactor, call Ann Subry at 244-1187.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear...Search,

On my resume, I show my marital status and birth date. I was told to take this off my resume by 2 different places that I applied for jobs with recently. It is a mystery to me because I went to the library and took out a book on how to write a resume, and followed the format they had shown by inserting my information. What's up? S.F. - Lake Villa

Dear S.F.,

The resume book you took out at the library was most likely outdated. Marital status, birth date, height, weight...these statistics do not belong on your resume. They can be used as a means of discrimination and are no longer acceptable. Many people no longer list their hobbies or outside interests for that reason, as well. Check out a recently published resume book if you have further questions as to what you should eliminate, or give me a call. In the mean time...when writing your resume...stick to the facts...and remember...less is more!

Dear Search,

I have been employed as a manufacturer's sales representative in men's apparel for more than 10 years. My compensation over the last 7 years has been on a commission basis and has proven to be very beneficial to me. Recent economic set backs through the industry have caused our company to close, causing me to seek other employment. I am thinking of changing careers, however, I have always worked in outside sales, so I am not used to being in an internal, structured environment, and I'm sure that will take some getting used to. I was hoping you could shed some light on where a die-hard sales person should start. Thanks. E.W. - Grayslake

Dear E.W.,

If you believe in your sales capabilities, and it has proven to be successful for you after all these years, why change now? There are manufacturers out there needing the knowledge you hold. A true sales professional, as you know, can sell any product or service he or she believes in. Before you jump ship, see what is out there. Good Luck.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
